Britain Calls for U.N. Amin Action

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Britain, backed by the United States, today demanded a full U.N. investigation into the human rights situation in Uganda. It called on the U.N. Commission on Human Rights to conduct the investigation without delay in view of the reported massacre of Christian tribesmen by the Moslem-led country.

Carter Errs on Uganda Diplomacy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's assertion Wednesday that "there are no diplomatic relations" between the United States and Uganda must have come as a shock to the seven Ugandan diplomats in that country's Washington Embassy.

The President was in error. Although the United States withdrew its diplomatic personnel from Uganda in 1973 because harassment threatened its operation, diplomatic relations were never completely severed. West Germany represents U.S. interests in Uganda.

Meanwhile, Radio Uganda reported today that Tanzanian troops have massed at the border and president Amin has declared himself ready to deal with any invasion.

A Tanzanian spokesman called the report "absolute hogwash."

Plans to revitalize the 118-mile Remsen-Lake Placid line as a recreational railroad were announced today by Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupak. Mrs. Krupak said the recently formed Adirondack Railway Corp. would operate the line.

Carter Backs CIA Dole, Raps Times

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter says he hasn't found anything illegal or improper in current CIA operations but acknowledges "some degree of accuracy" in widespread reports of payoffs to King Hussein and other world leaders.

Carter forestalled a break in diplomatic relations between the two countries by cabling his "personal regrets" to Perez. Carter called the New York Times report "malicious."

Venezuelan Foreign Minister Ramon Escobar Salom said Wednesday that Perez was "very satisfied with the tone" of the message from Carter.

Planners Get Up Steam to Save Catskill Line

Haines Corner Station at the turn of the century

By CHAZY DOWALIBY
Freeman staff

KINGSTON — Public and private planners in Ulster County are putting together a proposal to turn the soon-to-be abandoned Catskill Mountain line into a tourist railway.

After years of hearing and fearing the worst about the 83 miles of track through some of the most scenic parts of the state, officials have learned that the Penn Central Railroad has applied for a March 1 abandonment date for the line, which runs from Kingston to Bloomville.

That gives the state 120 days to decide what to do with the rail right-of-way before parts of it revert back to New York City and others go to seed or sale.

But for the first time since serious problems with the line were reported in early 1973, county, state and private representatives have agreed to work together to see if they can save the system.

Harris Gordon, Woodstock developer of the Catskill Mountain

Transportation Corp., and Al Ford chairman of the Industrial Development Agency are in the midst of putting together a report on the economic feasibility of converting the line to tourist use.

County Planner Herbert Hekler says this is the first time all parties who play a role in the railroad's future have agreed to work together to keep it from oblivion.

What Hekler envisions is a steam tourist line from Kingston to Phoenicia or Belleayre, which could act as a focus from which tourists could be guided to other parts of the county.

Steam lines elsewhere have served as major attractions in summer months, but the Catskill line could also be used to transport skiers during the winter, and for fall foliage runs.

On the drawing board are a couple of possibilities for funding, including several federal sources. Hekler estimates the county, itself could probably purchase the 25-mile run from

Lyonsville Woman's Menagerie Was News

Fire Kills Elderly Widow, Pets

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman staff

LYONSVILLE — A 94-year-old Lyonsville widow, who made headlines across the country when 70 dogs were found in her small home six years ago, died along with her five remaining dogs in a fire which quickly engulfed the shed-like frame building Wednesday morning.

Rachel Seidenberg and the dogs died in the room in which the fire is believed to have started because of a malfunctioning heater.

When mailman Francis Barley arrived at the house with one of the weekly food packages mailed to Mrs. Seidenberg from a friend in Brooklyn, he found firemen from Kripplebush, Accord and Stone Ridge wetting down the blaze which had erupted about 10:45 a.m. "It was pretty well burned," he said sadly, recalling kindly the widow's fairly self-sufficient existence.

The house, next door to the Harold Huggs property on Lyonsville Road, was located near Bone Hollow Road.

Mrs. Seidenberg's dogs attracted great attention in June of 1969 when local officials discovered that her original collection of 11 dogs had grown to 70 while the widow was away

NAACP Aids Former Migrant Worker's Cause

Student Sues Town, County

NEW PALTZ — A former migrant worker turned student has enlisted the help of the national NAACP in filing a lawsuit against town and county law enforcement officials for harassment and brutality.

Roy Green, 29, now a student at the State University College at New Paltz, held a news conference this morning at which he claimed town police and Ulster County Deputies had harassed and beaten him following his arrest in a Feb. 1 incident in a Main Street bar.

Still pending is a lawsuit Green filed in 1975 against the town, claiming that police had falsely arrested and assaulted him. That $100,000 suit is being handled by Woodstock attorney William Futerfas.

In a signed statement read today, Green said that on Feb. 1 he had been asked to leave the Olympic bar and restaurant. After a non-violent discussion with the bartender, he noticed four or five police officers "standing in the door."

He says they arrested him and that he was then arraigned before town Justice Rexford Schneider and then sent to the county jail in lieu of $100 bail.

At the jail, Green says he was "severely beaten" by Deputies before he arranged for bail. He says he then went to Kingston hospital for X-rays, complaining of stomach pain.

At the news conference, neither Green nor his attorneys offered any proof of the hospital records or beating.

Ellis Harris, co-ordinator for the Roy Green Defense Offense Committee stated, however, that "all charged against Green are false, there are witnesses who say that he is innocent of all charges. The police are just harassing him because he's not letting their brutality go unchallenged."

Greene is being backed by the New

Paltz-based Program Funding Inc. (PFI) which is a federally sponsored migrant workers advocacy program.

Green has been arrested several times during the past two years in the town.

In September of 1975 he and four other people were charged with possession of marijuana residue and seeds.

In August of 1976 he was arrested on charges of harassment, resisting arrest and obstructing government administration.

Local law enforcement officials have released no information on the charges or on Green's previous arrests.

Lawyers for Green were unavailable for comment today, and Town supervisor William Yeaple would only say that he was aware of the situation but was restrained from giving details because of the pending court proceedings.

CAC Gets Hot Lunch Reprieve

By CHAZY DOWALIBY
Freeman staff

KINGSTON — The Community Action Committee has six more weeks to straighten out its book keeping problems before the state decides whether or not it can keep its nutrition program for the elderly.

At an informal meeting with State Office for the Aging officials in Albany Wednesday, CAC was given until April 15 to have their 1975 and 1976 books audited. The results of the audit will be used to determine if the agency will be allowed to continue administering the $200,000 elderly hot lunch program it has had for the past six years.

Earlier this month the state had threatened to cut CAC off on March 5 because of what it termed "questionable policies in the fiscal management" of the program.

Edward Kramer, nutrition program director for the state said this morning that many of the problems cited in his complaints were "historical" in nature, dating back to the agency's administration by former director David A. Josephs.

"I believe the current board and administration is sincere about wanting to make improvements in the operation, and I really feel that together we'll be able to clear up a number of these problems," he said.

Kramer extended strong hope that "something could be worked out where the program could continue" at CAC and said that much of the decision will hinge on the audit results.

"The quality of the program is certainly not an issue. This agency has a very warm feeling toward older people...and I think we're on the same road."

Kingston legislator Larry Kitchart, who also serves on the CAC board, said this morning that the audit will begin as soon as possible and that he was confident all of the problems would be resolved.

Bloody Wallkill Brawl Sends Five to Hospital

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman staff

WALLKILL — Fists, feet and beer bottles flew in a bloody apartment house brawl in Wallkill early today, sending a pregnant, bleeding woman to the hospital and leaving four out of five others hospitalized with such injuries as a broken finger, lacerations and head and body bruises.

Three of four men are in Ulster County Jail.

The source of the trouble, according to Sheriff Deputy Roger C. Lapp, who was first on the scene, was an argument over two uninvited guests brought by a third man to the apartment of Bruce Fitzgerald, his pregnant wife, Mary Ellen.

When Lapp arrived he found four of youths in the front yard covered with blood.

Lapp reported that Robert Armbruster, 18, brought Kevin Martin, 17 and LeRoy Steinhilber, 19, all of Walden to the Fitzgerald apartment.

All had been apparently drinking and when Martin and Steinhilber were asked to leave, they did but later returned to get Armbruster. Fitzgerald then tried again to get them to leave and then "all hell broke loose."

Armbruster has been charged with disorderly conduct and harassment. Steinhilber and Martin are charged with criminal trespassing, first degree.

Steinhilber is charged with assault second degree for hitting Candy Fitzgerald, Bruce's sister, in the head with a bottle. He is also charged with

Albany Nursing Home Seeks to Stay Open

KINGSTON — An attorney for the Albany Avenue Nursing Home has come up with a proposal that may avert the state ordered closing of the facility.

In an application submitted to the State Health Department, attorney Earl Buccia is seeking to have the home certified as a 23-bed, one-story facility. At present the home is a two-story building, capable of serving 33 patients. Subsequent to a court order issued late last year, however, only the first floor of the building is currently being used to house patients.

Problems at the Albany Avenue

Nursing Home, and most other nursing homes around New York State have followed the adoption by the State Health Department of new safety regulations. Because the local facility is a wood frame structure, it was ordered to close because it did not comply with the new regulations.

Since the quality of care was never in question and since the home is fully equipped with a sprinkler system which is tied into the city fire department, Buccia is appealing the closing order and the home is being allowed to remain open during the appeals process.

Four Vie for Mayor In Expiring Village

By NEIL MOELLER
Correspondent

VILLAGE OF ROSENDALE — Unusual interest has been aroused by the four-way race for mayor of a village with a life expectancy of only seven months. Some say personalities are the only real issues, but the candidates disagree.

Mary Conlin, Lawrenceville, has filed a petition for a place on the ballot for mayor in the March 15 village election. Joanne Heinitz filed for the trustee slot. Previously announced mayoral candidates William J. Gully, Jr. and incumbent mayor Marc Phelan also filed petitions before the Wednesday deadline.

"Will" Meyers, Phelan's running mate, also filed for trustee. If all petitions are deemed in order, that is, having at least 50 valid signatures as required by New York State Law, the endorsed Democratic candidate for mayor, Kathleen Mihm, will be joined on the ballot by the three independents, Conlin, Gully, and Phelan; endorsed Democratic candidate for the endorsed trustee opening, Ruth Ghear, by Heinitz and Meyers. Decision on the petitions will be made on Friday, Mar. 25.

Mrs. Conlin was openly opposed to the dissolution of the village (slated to be completed by December 31, 1977) but accepts it as practically unalterable. A former legal secretary and businesswoman, Mrs. Conlin has long

Thief Shows Little Mercy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The thief had little mercy on Police Officer Rex Underwood.

Underwood, 32, was riding his civilian motorcycle to work when he was struck by a car and thrown to the pavement.

As he lay in the street with a broken back and compound fractures of both legs, a passerby stole his service revolver and walked away, investigators said.

Underwood was in serious condition at Simi Valley Adventist Hospital.

This Hardly a Gift

GWELLO, Rhodesia (UPI) — When Samson Hove shook the unexpected parcel and it shook back, he got worried.

Hove is an official of Bishop Abel Muzorewa's black United African National Council. Recalling that a Zambian politician recently received a parcel that blew up in his face, Hove put his parcel up in a tree and called the law.

Police satisfied themselves that the parcel contained no explosives. They ripped off the wrappings and out came a highly ruffled puff adder.

"The adder was very angry," a police spokesman said of the short thick and highly venomous snake.

"We think the parcel was posted in Bulawayo. It seems the snake was intended as a form of political message, passed from one politician to another."

Boys Change, Not Girls

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — The Boy Scouts, caught up in a modern-day identity crisis, are changing the name they were born with 67 years ago.

Bowing to the interests of women and minority groups, the Boy Scouts of America said the word "boy" is old-fashioned and even offensive to many of its members.

The organization, headquartered here, said it is changing the name to Scouting USA. The new name will appear in advertisements, literature and on calling cards.

"The word 'boy' is objectionable to minorities, our young adult (male and female) leaders and naturally to the young women enrolled in our coed Exploring program," the organization said.

Although the Boy Scouts of America are taking the masculinity out of their name, the Girl Scouts of the United States are not giving up their feminine identity. The girl scouts, a separate organization, have no plans for a name change.

Kingston to Phoenicia for about $75,000.

Private developers could then be induced to put several of the old steam engines back in operation, refurbish the track and even renovate some of the remnants of once grand stations along the way.

Around the turn of the century, steam passenger trains flourished along the then Ulster and Delaware line, bringing hundreds of people from the Kingston Point Riverboat landing along its winding tracks to fashionable resort areas in the Western part of the county and neighboring Delaware.

In recent years the line was relegated to freight use which eventually tapered off to what Penn Central considered a non-productive level.

In 1973 some effort was made to launch a reclamation campaign for the line, but to no avail.

Later, during federal and state hearings on the consolidation of national railways, government agencies decided to leave the Catskill spur out of future development plans.

Other possible uses of the rail bed include recreation and hiking paths, which some towns along the way are opposed to, and selling right of way easements to Central Hudson for power lines.

However, the 12 mile stretch along the Ashokan would revert back to New York City control if it is used for anything but railway purposes.

At a recent meeting on the new proposal, county officials were told of possible interest in the project by a Denver firm, which operates a similar steam-tourist line in the Rockies.

Whatever action is taken, it will have to come by mid-summer, before the states 120-day grace period runs out.

Gordon, who had all but given up any efforts to turn the line into a lucrative freight operation, now says that this is "the first glimmer of hope we've had in the past year."

He and Ford have already contacted Industrial Development Agency representatives in Delaware County and plan to go full speed ahead into their study.

"Of course I'm very happy with this interest," said Gordon.

"It's never too late till they pack up the tracks."

LWV Hears Supporters and Foes

Nuke Forum Ends in Stalemate

KINGSTON — Supporters and opponents of nuclear power fought to a familiar stalemate of statistics Wednesday night at a League of Women Voters forum, and the battle was adjourned to March 11 in another arena.

The fact that experts disagree on nuclear power should be a signal to halt construction of several hundred uranium-fueled power plants now in the works across the Northeast, argued Larry Bogart, one of two panel members opposing nuclear power.

Prof. Robert M. Ryan, the expert pitted against Bogart, for the forum, argued that development of nuclear technology is an "absolute must" for the state and nation, and that a nuclear plant in fact emits less radiation into the environment than does a coal-fired plant.

As many as five nuclear plants are planned within a 25-mile radius of Kingston in the next decade, one proposed by the Power Authority of the State of New York on a site in Cementon and four others by Consolidated Edison in Lloyd-Esopus or Red Hook-Milan.

"The choice may be between nuclear power and quiet factories or cold homes," said Richard M. Peekema, an IBM Kingston chemist and former employee of the government plutonium manufacturing complex in Hanford, Wash.

Joy J. MacNulty, like Peekema an LWV member and arguing the other side, feared the "extraordinarily perilous" technology of nuclear power and complained that other technologies like solar and wind energy are being ignored or suppressed.

"I'd like to see the matter referred to the people in each community and let them decide whether to take the risks for the benefit of a faraway population," said Mrs. MacNulty, who moved to Woodstock to get away from nuclear development in Tennessee.

ing nuclear power safe should be enough reason to drop the technology.

Power utilities have been "sold a bill of goods" by the nuclear industry as to the efficiency and low cost of safe nuclear power, Bogart said.

Ryan, director of radiation and nuclear safety at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, and Peekema collaborated to show figures that a nuclear plant gives out 1 or 2 millirems of radiation a year while normal "background" radiation from the sun and other natural sources amounts to 130 millirems.

A transcontinental airplane flight would expose a passenger to five times the radiation of a nuclear plant, and medical X-rays expose a patient to 70 times as much, the two men said.

"Man is trying to juggle the most deadly materials ever produced on this planet," said Bogart, who estimated radioactive wastes from a nuclear plant would have to be kept out of the environment for 250,000 years.

Wastes could be stored in deep-shaft salt mines, Ryan said, although he conceded that no repositories have yet been perfected and put into operation.

Audience member Joel Kobran, a nuclear opponent, fired a series of questions at Ryan, who remembered Kobran from a previous encounter at Bard College.

"I think that's a lousy question. How do you like that?" Ryan said at one point.

"I think that's a lousy comment. How do you like that?" Kobran replied.

"Well, you're both even. How do you like that?" said moderator Elizabeth Madonna, who moved the discussion to other subjects.

She suggested interested residents attend a March 11 three-hour forum at George Washington School in Kingston on the pros and cons of nuclear power, sponsored by the Ulster County Legislature.

Larry Bogart

Bogart, a New Jersey newspaperman who helped found Friends of the Hudson to crusade against nuclear power after giving up an executive job with Allied Chemical, said the skyrocketing cost of keep-Pepperidge Farms "Goldfish" pretzels and Farm Frozen Soft pretzels, both made in other locations, are not involved in the recall.

The Pepperidge Farm company, in cooperation with the Food and Drug Administration, has notified its customers to remove the pretzel products from sale. Any consumers who have the recalled items are asked to return them to the location where purchased for reimbursement.

Pepperidge Calls Back Its Pretzels

NORWALK, Conn.—Pepperidge Farm, Inc. is recalling all varieties of its pretzel products produced at its New Holland, Pa. plant because of the possibility that some might have undissolved sodium hydroxide, a substance normally used in the production of pretzels. The undissolved substance could cause irritation or injuries to consumers.

Three consumers have been reported to have received moderate burns to the mouth resulting from the consumption of Pepperidge Farm Tiny Twist Butter Pretzels, believed to have contained some of the undissolved material.

Although only the Tiny Twists, mainly intended for use in vending machines, were involved in the reported injuries, all Pepperidge Farm and "Billy's" brand pretzel products made at the New Holland plant are being recalled as a precautionary measure.

Included in the recall are:

October Completion Seen for Center

Saugerties Senior Site Stays Put

SAUGERTIES — When construction begins on the new Senior Citizens Center in two or three months, the building will go up at the originally proposed site on Robinson St.

Architect-engineer Aris Moshos said this week that preparation of plans and specifications will be finished in eight to 12 weeks, and construction should be completed by the end of October.

After grant money had been approved for the Robinson St. site, some complaints surfaced that the location would make a local baseball field unavailable for use. An alternate site nearby was recommended, but Moshos said investigation determined that the newly proposed location was on a four per cent grade level, necessitating use of a pumping station.

The Robinson St. land had a seven per cent grade level, is a short distance from sewer lines, and, from an ecological standpoint, is the most feasible site, he said. In addition, Robinson St. is the maximum distance the center should be located from the center of town, he noted.

Local senior citizens have also pointed out that many locations were explored in the year prior to the selection of Robinson St., and that none proved appropriate.

Town Supervisor Frank Greco, estimating that more than 400 people would be using the building regularly, said it would be "as large as possible" even further. Plans, he said, called for a 60 by 100 foot building with a frontage of 180 feet facing Market St., and a 20 foot setback.

Greco noted the center would be a "town building" that would also be used for other functions, such as supervised youth activities. But he said senior citizens would have first preference at all times.

Elderly residents seemed satisfied with the entire plan. Although they had spearheaded the fight for the center, they pointed out that other people in Saugerties would also have the advantage of using the building. And they agreed, too, that Robinson St. seemed the most feasible location. The site would be less expensive to taxpayers, they said, and offered convenience to at least 31 per cent of senior citizens, who lived within less than a mile of that location.

And, since all senior citizen functions in Saugerties are well attended at whatever location, few saw any real transportation problem in getting to the new building.

CAPITOL CAPSULE

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A summary of state government news Wednesday:

CASINO GAMBLING

Gov. Hugh Carey threw his support behind moves for a statewide referendum on whether casino gambling should be legalized in New York. There has been a revival of interest in casino gambling in the state since New Jersey voters approved such a proposition and action has begun to open casinos in Atlantic City. "I've looked into this," Carey told a news conference. "I would be prepared to give the people a choice. In New York, a constitutional amendment to allow such gambling must be passed by two separately elected legislatures before it could go before the voters for final approval."

INFORMATION DENIED

Assembly leaders have rejected an appeal by UPI that they explain how several million in public funds are spent. The action exhausts administrative procedures for gaining access to the spending records under the state's Freedom of Information Law.

The news wire service had requested Assembly Speaker Stanley Steingut and Senate Majority Leader Warren Anderson to make public details of the legislature's joint $46.2 million budget.

Both houses rejected the requests on the first level of a two-stage process. The Senate has not yet responded to the

DISASTER RELIEF

The Senate approved legislation, similar to a measure vetoed by Gov. Carey last year, setting up a new commission to handle disasters. The measure, sent to the Assembly, would set up an Emergency Services Commission to "coordinate disaster related activities of the state and localities."

Sawyers Backing a Diverse Trio

SAUGERTIES — As the general election in the Village of Saugerties inches closer, Sawyer Party members are backing a diverse trio of candidates for the three trustee seats open on the Village Board.

In endorsing Eleanor Redder, Robert Schnell and Edward Sweeney for trustee positions, Sawyers have offered local voters one candidate who is a lifelong Saugerties resident, and two other nominees who have lived locally for some 20 years.

Eleanor Redder

Lynch Fire Company and is a member of the Ulster County Firemen's Association.

A member of the 120th New York Volunteer Infantry, Sweeney is also active with the North South and the North East Skirmish Associations.

Local voters also know him as the former chairman of the Independent Taxpayers Party. He and his wife, the former Elizabeth Sperl, are Born and raised in Saugerties, Edward Sweeney represents the third generation of his family to settle in at his Clermont Street residence. A former Saugerties Police Department member, he attended St. Mary of the Snow and Saugerties High School, and is now employed at North East Solite Corp. in Mt. Marion.

The parents of two sons, who, with their families, also reside in Saugerties.

The Sawyers, who currently have two women party members serving on the village board, have carefully avoided sexist bias. In the hopes of maintaining the present balance after Mayor Erika Hinchey steps down next month, they have nominated Eleanor Redder for trustee. A village resident for more than two decades with her husband, Richard, a Junior High guidance counselor, and their three sons, she has been highly active in community and civic affairs.

Among her credits: member and past president of the League of Women Voters and the Women's Club; Little Sawyer Gristmill Restoration project; Mother's Auxiliary of Boy Scout Troop 32; Ulster County SPCA and the county Historical Association; and a current member of the Village Planning Board.

Mrs. Redder's educational background includes: graduate of Newburgh Free Academy; B.A. degree from Hartwick College with a major in History and Political Science; M.S. degree from State University College, New Paltz; and 21 hours beyond a Master's in the field of Special Education.

She has taught multi-handicapped children at the Pine Grove and Rhinebeck Country Schools, and is now employed as a substitute teacher in the Saugerties and Ontario Central Schools.

She also spent three summers as a social worker with the Ulster County Migrant Health project; has served on the Hartwick College Alumni Board of Directors and attends St. Mary of the Snow Church.

Sawyers are also proud of the track record and experience of trustee incumbent Robert Schnell, who serves in that position and as current police commissioner by appointment. Running to succeed himself, the IBM employee can also lay claim to 20 years local residency, and active involvement in community and civic affairs. A member and past secretary of Saugerties Jaycees, he is also a member of the local K of C. Currently vice president of St. Mary of the Snow Holy Name Society, he was past president and secretary of that group.

Schnell is also now president of Saugerties Athletic Booster Club and the local Lions Club, and, for five years, was executive director of the Miss Ulster County Scholarship Pageant. A member of the Village Zoning Board of Appeals for 10 years, he was chairman of that agency for two years. He has also chaired the Catholic Charities Appeal for his church.

Prior to his employment by IBM, Schnell served for four years in the U.S. Navy during the Korean conflict. He and his wife, Marion, are the parents of five children.

Woman Killed After Asking Help

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (UPI) — "I have been harassed by my husband to no end," Imogene Knode wrote in a letter to a local newspaper. "Will someone please tell me what to do?"

Less than three weeks after the letter appeared, the 25-year-old woman was found dead and her estranged husband, Timothy, was charged with killing her.

"He has beat me when he catches me on the street, cut me, broke into my mother's house, stands and calls me obscene names, among other things I cannot mention," Mrs. Knode said in her Feb. 4 letter to the Hagerstown Daily Mail. The letter was signed "Helpless."

As the letter appeared, Mrs. Knode still was nursing a wound received when her husband allegedly slashed her throat with a razor. He was arrested Jan. 7 and released on $500 bond.

But the harassment continued and Mrs. Knode wanted to know why someone would not help her. "The police say they can't do anything to him," she said in her letter. "The city hall seems to bow to his command."

Mrs. Knode was found shot to death this week in the living room of her parents' home where she had been staying.

Police charged her husband with first degree murder. He was ordered held without bond.

"She always told us he was threatening to kill her," said

Mitch Dodson, owner of a restaurant where Mrs. Knode worked as a waitress. "One night as she was leaving the restaurant he ran across the street and threw some dirtylooking stuff at her."

"He said it was acid, and all I can say is that it ate holes in her coat," Dodson added. "She lost the use of that coat after that."

He added that Mrs. Knode and her father were pelted with urine on a street one day.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Three Will Run for Village Board

By LYNN GOLDENBERG
Correspondent

NEW PALTZ — New Paltz village elections should hold no surprises this year, for only three candidates have filed petitions for three seats on the village board.

On the ballot for the March 15 election will be George Ackert and John Logan, both running for reelection, and Steve Ruelke, editor of a local weekly newspaper, who hopes to fill the vacancy left by retiring Trustee O. Lincoln Igou. Ackert, elected two years ago to a four year term, was forced by a quirk in the law to seek voter approval to fill out his term. When he retired from his job with the county, Ackert was required to also quit his village post. At the next board meeting he was appointed to succeed himself until the next election. Ackert has been active in village politics since 1951.

Logan, running for his third term, says he wants to remain on the board "because of several projects that we are trying to complete and several that we are trying to initiate."

Most of the projects, he said, have to do with correcting a "bad situation" at the village sewage treatment plant.

Ruelke, editor of the Huguenot Herald, said in announcing his candidacy that many village problems have not been properly handled. He named continuing deterioration of the downtown business climate, inequitable taxation of items three and four of the town highway budget, the overwhelming number of tax-exempt properties that place an ever-increasing burden on village taxpayers, and the perennial question of disincorporation.

Ruelke sees no conflict of interest between his position with the Herald and a post on the village board. He says an editorial assistant will process material relating to the board.

"I won't see the stories until they are printed," he said. "Should I disagree with a story, I will exercise the option open to all the newspapers readers and write a letter to the editor."

Igou, a professor at the State University College at New Paltz, is retiring after more than six years as a trustee.

Pharmacist on Tax Strike

ELYRIA, Ohio (UPI) — Pharmacist John McCurry says he will not pay federal income taxes for himself or his employees this year.

McCurry, owner of the Abbey Road Pharmacy, said Tuesday he was upset about the way federal pay raises had been handled and would place income tax withholding deductions for himself and seven employees into a special escrow account at a local bank.

"The whole setup bugs me," McCurry said. "This is a taxpayers revolt, a revolution by government without any guns."

The deductions amount to $644 a month, he said. The next deductions are due the federal government March 15.

"The interest I will get from the money in the bank will pay the penalty the government will put on me for being late," McCurry said. "I know they will come after me with penalties for being late but I am ready and willing to take that risk."

McCurry said he didn't approve of refusal by Congress to take the pay raise measure to a floor fight. The result was a $12,900 annual pay raise for House and Senate members.

"I am the first around here to do this," McCurry said. "But I hope others follow and I will help them. There is a group in Michigan doing the same thing. A doctor in my building and I were talking and he said he might go along also."

Already more than a century old, this oak tree UPI photo grows through the roof of a stable on a farm near Osnabruek, West Germany.

Partners Upset over Charges

KINGSTON — The partners who own L&M Auto Parts on East Strand, charged in November with operating a "stolen car ring," said today they're happy with the County Grand Jury's decision not to indict them for criminal possession of stolen property. But they added that "We're very upset over the original charges leveled."

Larry Gersh of 4 Hillside Terrace and Marvin Schildhorn of 6 Browning Terrace, are now charged only with failure to record a titled vehicle. Original charges lodged in late November, alleged that a "stolen car ring" had been uncovered and that the two were reported to be in possession of stolen property.

In a statement issued this week, the two men recalled that on Nov. 21, police reported that L&M was in possession of a stolen 1973 Cadillac Eldorado and parts from at least five other stolen cars. At that time Gersh and Schildhorn informed the Daily Freeman that the Cadillac, was reported by them as a suspicious vehicle to the Kingston Police Department about two to three weeks before their arrest.

They said police ran the identification number on that automobile and a check "through the New York State Computer system" showed it "had not been reported as a stolen car and did not appear as a stolen car."

Gersh and Schildhorn claim, through their attorney, Alfred Mainetti, that "testimony to this effect was elicited from the Kingston Detective Division at a preliminary hearing."

The two partners say they are "trying to wrap up the police investigation" of a fire that occurred at L&M on Dec. 1. Records were lost in the blaze but, they say, "fortunately very few records were in fact lost and records concerning the ownership of all automobiles owned by L&M were undamaged."

They claim further that they recently testified for the district attorney's office and at the request of prosecuting police agencies in justice court in Hurley "after supplying information leading to the arrest of a party charged with a stolen automobile." They did not disclose who the individual was.

been interested in and outspoken about local issues. She is a regular attendee of local meetings and hearings.

"Mary is the kind of person who makes up her own mind and is not afraid to speak it," said Joanne Heinitz. Mrs. Conlin says she is running "to see why the dissolution process costs more than the normal operation of the village did; why the clerks' salaries are higher than before."

Mrs. Heinitz, who vies for the trustee slot on the March 15 ballot, has lived in the village for 18 years. She is currently employed in a local department store. Formerly deputy village clerk, Mrs. Heinitz says she resigned because she was asked questions and didn't like the answers (she received).

Conlin and Heinitz both claimed to have announced their candidacies in the "eleventh hour" only upon the urging of friends and neighbors.

10 Tornadoes Hit, Two Persons Dead

(By UPI)

Tornadoes struck the Midwest and South Wednesday, killing a three-year-old boy in Mississippi and an elderly woman in Missouri. The National Weather Service counted 10 tornadoes in all and raised new tornado warnings today for portions of Florida, Georgia and Alabama.

The weather service called it "the first major outbreak of the 1977 severe weather season."

Wednesday's wild weather also had winds gusting to 100 miles an hour near Burlington, Colo., and dust storms so black a Kansas postman abandoned his mail and old timers several years ago, has closed.

The state charged that food sold was exposed to contamination and filth and may have been rendered diseased, unwholesome or injurious to health, in violation of the Agriculture and Markets law.

Inspection of the premises allegedly revealed mice and rat feces, dark, aged, slimy matter in a cooler, oil, dough, dark matter and dust in the bagel maker and surfaces coming in contact with dough, encrusted with rust. A boiling kettle contained brown-colored liquid with a slimy film on top and storage containers held "an extremely heavy accumulation of liquid waste," according to papers filed in Ulster County Supreme Court.

Woman Charged

A Kingston woman was arrested by Hurley Police and State Police Wednesday on a warrant charging failure to appear to answer a summons for driving without a license.

Lisa Winslow, 20, of 101 Elmendorf St., was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $100 bail. Hurley Police Chief Stephen Heyer said Ms. Winslow has received a total of three summonses for similar charges.

She is scheduled to reappear before Justice C. H. DuMond, March 16.

City Arrests

Two Kingston men are charged with taking four brand new tires from Lamoreaux Service Station on Albany Avenue about 7:45 Wednesday night.

Jarled in $165 bail each are Roger J. Elmendorf, 16, of 106 Farrelly St., and Jeffrey Hudson, 19, of Colonial Gardens, both charged with criminal possession of stolen property.

When a witness saw the pair with the tires, heading toward Wilson Avenue, city police were called and apprehended them in a short time.

Estelle J. Canfield, 45, of 16 Cape Ave., Ellenville, was arrested in Kingston Wednesday on a warrant charging issuance of a bad check.

City police made the arrest.

At the time Mrs. Seidenberg told the local town justice she was concerned for the dogs and did not want to let them go, so she kept them all just as she had taken care of the 11.

The judge allowed her to keep five of the animals on the condition that none were female, or if they were that that they be spayed. She wanted them for company she said, "now that I am alone."

The remainder of the dogs were taken care of by the SPCA who found homes for most.

Kramer also added that there is still a possibility that the nutrition program could be put under the direction of the local Office of the Aging and then contracted back to CAC for actual delivery.

"It is possible that we could equitably negotiate the situation so that both agencies could work together on this."

One thing Kramer strongly underlined was that there was no "political-ly inspired" activity in his office's recent actions.

"It's our job to insure that the agency has an accountability to the taxpayers and that they are aware of their fiscal responsibilities...we certainly didn't want to embarrass any individuals," he said.

The deadline for a final decision on the matter will be sometime around April 15, said Kramer, who added that some flexibility will be allowed because of the difficulty in getting auditors during the tax preparation season.

entered the apartment "it was in shambles."

All were arraigned in justice court and treated at Benedictine Hospital. The men are held in lieu of $250 bail each. They have not yet been arraigned on the assault charges.

1st Primary Win Remembered Well

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

One year ago tonight Jimmy Carter won his first presidential primary to begin a meteoric climb from obscurity rarely equaled in American political history.

Carter stepped onto a stage in the crowded ballroom of the Sheraton Carpenter Hotel in Manchester, N.H., at 11:38 p.m. EST, Feb. 24, 1976, to accept victory over four better known White House rivals in the New Hampshire primary.

When he appeared, 3,000 jubilant supporters, many wearing the campaign colors of green and white, jabbed the smoky air with raised index fingers and chanted "we're number one."

It was eight minutes before the candidate from Plains, Ga., could speak.

"I think you know how close I feel to each of you," he said, smiling broadly. He introduced the original believers in his candidacy: his wife, Rosalynn, and his sons.

Carter turned again to the microphone and told supporters, "You're just like part of my family now."

"We're number one," came the chant.

"Next it's Massachusetts," the former Georgia governor said.

Seal of Approval

Ashes, an Atlantic grey seal pup, stares at the photographer at New York Aquarium where it was born Feb. 23. Since the pup was born on Ash Wednesday, Aquarium officials thought it logical to give the pup a name that honors both his birthday and his color. Ashes, who is about 30 inches long and weighed in at 27 pounds at birth, is the 12th seal at the Aquarium and the fifth of the Atlantic grey variety, officials said. The parents are Oops and Pierre.

Church Pleads with Vandals

Dear Editor:

The Church of the Comforter has always been a community church opening its doors to the youth of the community to such activities as Sunday School and its youth programs.

We have been rewarded for this effort by increased vandalism in the form of broken windows which recently have numbered as many as five a week. The problem of an occasional broken window has been with us for many years, but during the past month at least 18 windows have been broken in our church hall and more than two dozen diamond shaped windows in our church sanctuary.

The Church of the Comforter knows the identity of many of the young people who hang around and have been seen on the Church property after dark. We are asking parents in the neighborhood of Wynkoop Place in Kingston to help us correct this situation by making your children aware of the wrongfulness of these acts.

This letter is not intended to indicate that all young people in the community are involved in the vandalism—on the contrary, our church continues to believe that the majority of young people in our city are decent and with good morals. Unfortunately some young people do not fall into this category.

If any member of the community has any information concerning these incidents of vandalism or if anyone has any ideas on how to reasonably correct the present situation, please contact any member of the church or Church of the Comforter.

In the meantime, we intend to post "no trespassing" signs on the church property and will prosecute any unauthorized person caught trespassing on church property.

It is, indeed, a very sad situation when a church has to take such action to protect its property, but under the circumstances we know of no other course of action at the present time.

We ask you to join us in helping to find a prayerful solution to our problem.

Impasse in Rhodesia

Mr. Peregrine Worsthorne, who is to Great Britain what J. J. Kilpatrick and I are to the United States — beacons of sanity — wrote recently about the Rhodesian problem and recalled a press briefing earlier in the month conducted by Mr. Ivor Richard in Geneva. A representative of the Times of London began his question in this way: "We all know that the white delegation are a despicable lot..." He might as well have said, "We all know that January has 31 days," for all that anyone demurred. One can readily imagine the look on Mr. Richard's face if the correspondent had begun by saying, "We all know that the black delegations are a despicable lot..." Mr. Worsthorne has put his finger on the problem, namely the British Government.

When two weeks ago Ian Smith called off negotiations he made a 3,000-word statement on the Rhodesian situation so straightforward, so irresistibly plausible as to guarantee that no one will pay any attention to it. It comes down to this: Smith's government agreed to majority rule within two years. What would happen during those two years? Two governing councils would rule the country, one of which would have a majority of black African members. There would be white ministers of Defense and of Law. Various commissions would seek out procedural answers to certain questions, but under no circumstances would majority rule be put off beyond the two-year period.

Now the significant factor to bear in mind here is that the interim arrangements were proposed not by Ian Smith but by Henry Kissinger. And in formulating them, Henry Kissinger, did not consult Ian Smith, he consulted the British Government, and African leaders. He got the consent—the enthusiastic consent—of both parties before he presented the package to Ian Smith, who accepted it.

Ian Smith traveled to Geneva, and found the situation substantially altered. What happened was that in the interval, the Soviet Union saw the possibility of a peaceful, progressive revolution within Rhodesia. This was clearly intolerable, and under the circumstances the left-apparatus went to work on what they call the Front Line Presidents, that is to say the presidents of the republics that border on Rhodesian territory. Parenthetically, any suggestion that the Front Line presidents institute majority rule in their own countries would be gavelled despectically out of order in Geneva. Pressed by the revolutionaries, the Front Line presidents began to back the demands of the terrorists.

What did they want? In effect, instant black rule — by terrorist backed leaders. The British representative Mr. Richard proved the supreme tergiversator in the situation. He was so busy acquiescing in the daily demands of the terrorist lobby, that sometimes his sense of timing deserted him, and he found himself making demands in behalf of the terrorists before they themselves had thought of them.

But Mr. Richard's constituency, you see, is not Rhodesia. He is interested in high office in his own country, and his own country tends to be dominated by a wing within his own party which on the whole would like to see a John Brown-type solution to the Rhodesian mess, with all white people out there hanging from lampposts. Mr. Smith does not believe he was elected first minister of Rhodesia to preside over the liquidation of his constituents.

Now the special insight of Mr. Worsthorne is this. America is critical in the Rhodesian situation, and America has a responsibility to use its power to consummate the arrangements made under America's p rod-ding last September. In order to quiet the terrorists, revive the strength of the African moderates, and get on with the emancipation of Rhodesia, we should be prepared to use our weapon — and Britain's: the end of economic sanctions. This is a meaningful threat to the excesses of the terrorists, who having last week satisfied their claims on international attention by slaughtering nuns, will next week presumably turn to eating babies.

Now the Front Line Presidents do not really desire within Rhodesia a Mozambique-Angolan type situation. Terrorism breeds more terrorism. They desire their own fiefdoms, secure from the demands of barbarians, who are in turn manipulated by the Communists. It is required that they scream and yell their solidarity with said barbarians because the left press is successful in framing the controversy as black vs. white. It is, of course, nothing of the sort: it is a few thousand terrorists, many of them of schoolboy age against millions of blacks and a few hundred thousand whites seeking comity.

Gulf Denies Holding Back Gas

WASHINGTON — Jerry McAfee is an affable, avuncular fellow, with a benign face, who looks more like a minister than an oil tycoon. As chairman of the mighty Gulf Oil Corporation, he took offense at our recent charge that Gulf had withheld natural gas from its lower-paying customers.

We wrote in the February 14 column that Gulf in 1971 began cutting back the flow to Texas Eastern, a giant pipeline serving 16 states. Yet the oil company, we suggested naughtily, "seemed to have plenty of gas to sell other customers at higher prices."

The ABC television network invited McAfee to confront me on the "Good Morning America show." "By golly," said the friendly oilman, "we have been producing every cubic foot of gas that we've been able to. Our people have been working overtime day and night."

I noted that Gulf had contracted to pump 625 million cubic feet of gas into the pipeline every day but that the actual deliveries had been closer to 400 million cubic feet.

"The temporary shortfall that has been involved has been the result of circumstances beyond our control," he explained.

I read to him the verdict of an administrative law judge, suggesting that Gulf withheld "gas from the interstate market until the price has been driven up in violation of federal antitrust laws."

"We thoroughly, emphatically, completely dispute it," said McAfee. "Isn't it true..." I asked, "that at the same time you've been withholding this gas from Texas Eastern — gas that you would have been required under the contract to sell at a very cheap rate — you had been selling gas at far more expensive rates to other customers?"

"The gas that we've been selling intrastate Texas," McAfee said, "has been gas that's completely outside the Texas Eastern supply area."

I pointed out that Gulf had an "unconditional contract" with Texas Eastern, not limited to any specific supply area. "In other words," I suggested, "you have plenty of gas as long as the price is right."

"No, that's wrong," protested McAfee. He repeated that the "contract calls for us to deliver gas to the Texas Eastern Company from a particular area. We are doing that."

The brief debate goes to the heart of the natural gas controversy — that is, the nagging public suspicion that the oil companies have been holding back gas for higher prices.

Now the House Investigations Subcommittee, headed by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., has added its voice to the controversy. In a detailed report today on the Gulf Oil case, the subcommittee has totally confirmed our findings.

The report charges that "Gulf has failed to meet its contractual... obligation to deliver full contract volumes to Texas Eastern," yet at the same time, "Gulf has made other natural gas sales at higher prices during the time it has been under-delivering to Texas Eastern."

Adds the document sternly: "Gulf and Texas Eastern may have engaged in a conspiracy in violation of federal law to withhold gas from the interstate market until the price is right."

The reason the company failed to deliver all the gas it had promised, according to the report, was "a failure to develop the many leases it already had."

The subcommittee points out that the company "expended only an average of $15 million annually in Texas and Southern Louisiana on gas exploration." The congressmen considered this to be petty change compared to the $140 million that Gulf rakes in from interstate gas sales each year.

Concludes the report: "Gulf has violated the Natural Gas Act by failing to meet its commitment to deliver 625 million cubic feet per day to Texas Eastern."

BUSINESS BIAS — In the past, U.S. embassies have functioned virtually as branch offices for private business interests. The State Dept., of course, is supposed to protect American interests abroad, but it is not required to adapt U.S. foreign policy to please the corporations.

The State Dept. has often taken its policies, for example, right out of the executive suites of the oil companies. When Big Oil couldn't get what it wanted in foreign countries, the embassies tried to get it for them.

Now all this is going to change; the tail will no longer wag the dog, United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young told us. U.S. foreign policy will be determined in the White House, not the corporate board rooms, he said. American corporations operating overseas will be expected to help carry out U.S. policy, rather than the other way around.

For example, U.S. banks that have made heavy loans to the white regimes of southern Africa will be asked to pressure those countries into changing their racial policies, Young told us.

Thanks to Officer Schatzel

Dear Editor:

I am taking this time to write to you to express our gratitude to Officer John Schatzel.

Our car was parked on Broadway and was hit by a man who was charged with DWI. Officer Schatzel handled this problem with insight, efficiency, and a high degree of professionalism. Charac-

We appreciate our police department.

Don't Forget Maxon's Bakery

Dear Editor:

I read with interest your article in Sunday's Tempo section, Feb. 13, regarding the former Beef House. I would like to make one correction — the name of the business before the Kreisigs purchased the building was Maxon's Bakery — well known for Old Homestead Bread and other baked goods.

My father, Abram Maxon, was owner and operator of this business and our family also lived there. I, as well as my brother Lucius Maxon worked with my father as young boys and we had bakery wagons delivering to our many customers.

Like Mrs. Kreisig I too felt sorry about the recent fire which destroyed this landmark.

Has Police State Arrived?

Dear Editor:

After reading your editorial I finally came to the realization that I must be living in a police state, where the government tells me what is best for me and mine.

As a taxpayer and a Catholic, I don't want to lose my Catholic hospital. It seems the government puts too much stress on money and not on heart.

Until we all get back to God and stop the killing of the unborn we well never have peace in this country.

Your editorial stresses that if the Benedictine Hospital doesn't support abortion it will lose its support.

First the government takes our tax dollars and then doesn't even allow us to say how it will be spent.

Warnke Should Be Okayed

Dear Editor:

I read in the Freeman on Feb. 10 that former Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Nitze, arguing against the appointment of Paul Warnke as head of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, said (referring to the complexities of dealing with the Soviet Union) that the construction of military weapons systems as "bargaining chips" is an important method of persuasion, and that "Paul Warnke is one of the leading opponents of bargaining chips..."

I would like to suggest that opposition to the concept of 'bargaining chips' and hence to the construction of new military weapons systems is entirely appropriate for the head of an agency concerned with disarmament, and I urge all Freeman readers to write to Senators Javits and Moynihan urging Warnke's confirmation in this post.

'Ain't Goin' Sin No More'

WASHINGTON—President Carter last week said in a visit to one of his many bureaucracies: "Those of you who are living in sin, I hope you will get married."

It came as a stunner to many unmarried people in Washington who didn't realize that because they were sharing the same apartment their President thought they were living in sin.

Broombaker was the first to call. "I don't know what to do, Nora says we have to get married."

"That's ridiculous," I said. "How long have you been living together?"

"Three years," he replied.

"Isn't she sort of pushing things?" I asked.

"That's what I told her. I said we had a good thing going and asked her why she wanted to louse it up."

"What did she say?"

"She said she didn't care one way or the other. But Carter wanted it that way."

"I didn't even know she voted for Carter."

"She didn't. She voted for Ford, but she said now that Carter is her President she feels she owes him her full loyalty."

"Did you tell her that the President just suggested people stop living in sin? He didn't make it an Executive Order."

"I went further than that. I told her he made the suggestion to the Housing and Urban Development Department and he was only talking to them. Nora's in Rural Electrification and they're not covered by HUD."

"What did she say to that?"

"She said the President meant all government employees should get married."

"It didn't strike me that way," I said. "The way I saw it on TV the President had probably been briefed beforehand that the HUD employees were a pretty wild crowd, and he just decided that he didn't want people involved with low-cost housing to be messing around."

"That's exactly what I told Nora," Broombaker said. "I told her that if the President was worried about sin in the Rural Electrification Administration he would have made a special trip over there to tell them."

"She didn't buy it?"

"Nope. She said it was our patriotic duty to get married. Every American should ask not what her country can do for her but what she can do for her country. She said that if the President of the United States wants us to get hitched he must have a reason."

"What reason?" I yelled. "Did you ask her that?"

"Sure I did. I pointed out that three Presidents of this country had led us blindly into a war in Vietnam. Why should we believe a President who wants to lead us blindly into marriage?"

"Good for you! That must have really got to her."

"It did," Broombaker said. "She told me to get out of the apartment."

"For how long?"

"For good. She said it is impossible now for her to have the same relationship with me under Carter that she did under Nixon and Ford."

"You poor guy. Where are you going to go?"

"Well, I called up this girl I met at a party about a year ago. She said to give her a jingle if I ever got tired of Nora."

"That was good thinking," I said. "She asked me what I had on my mind, and I told her I thought we might go out a couple of times and if it worked out we could keep house together."

"And?"

"She said that would be a sin."

"The President's only been here a month," I said, "and he's wrecked this town."

"I can't figure him out," Broombaker said. "He pardons draft dodgers and at the same time he insists that single people who are serving their country have to be punished."

Marianne Means' Washington

Bella, Rejected, May Run for Mayor

WASHINGTON - President Carter has rejected former New York Rep. Bella Abzug as chairman of the Federal Trade Commission and selected instead a capitol Hill lawyer highly regarded by consumer groups.

The President's as-yet-unannounced choice is Michael Pertschuk, 44, chief counsel of the Senate Commerce Committee.

Carter met privately in the White House with Abzug on February 14, but he had no Valentines for her. He told her that he meant to name someone else to the FTC post and offered her the unpaid, ceremonial post of presiding officer of the International Women's Year Commission.

Abzug stalked out in a fury. She had lobbied vigorously for the FTC job and was supported by most of the New York Democratic congressional delegation and Mayor Abe Beame, who wanted to sidetrack her to keep her from running for mayor.

But she was opposed by other FTC officials, who feared she would be disruptive and too publicity-conscious. When Ralph Nader and other consumer leaders met with the President recently, Nader, speaking on behalf of the group, endorsed Pertschuk over Abzug for the job.

New York Democratic officials are reportedly upset by Carter's decision, and assume that since Abzug was offered no administration job with acceptable status and power she will now certainly run for mayor in June.

That prospect terrifies many New York Democrats, already worried about a divisive primary which could throw the election to the likely Republican-Liberal nominee, State Sen. Roy Goodman. Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton has already announced; Beame is expected to do so soon; and Rep. Edward Koch may also run. The controversial Abzug, who narrowly lost the Democratic Senate primary last year, would certainly muddy the waters.

Pertschuk's selection is the latest in a series of pro-consumer appointments which amply demonstrate that Nader hollered too soon when he complained about not being consulted some months ago. Pertschuk has long been the driving force behind the Senate Commerce Committee's admirable record on consumer affairs.

Three other recent appointments are considered victories for the consumer lobbyists. Patricia Said, assistant attorney general for legislative affairs, had directed litigation seeking rights for mental health patients. Carol Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for consumer affairs, was executive director of the Consumer Federation of America. And Joan Claybrook, director of the Highway Safety Administration, was Nader's deputy. Nader himself is apparently not interested in a Federal post.

During their White House meeting, Nader pressed Carter to create a new White House consumer advisory post. Presidents Nixon and Ford had a special assistant for consumer affairs, Virginia Knauer. Consumer activists felt she had too little authority and too much sympathy with industry.

Nader urged that the adviser be not merely a person assigned to make consumer speeches but an active lobbyist who would campaign for the President's consumer interests on Capitol Hill. The first chore envisioned would be lobbying for a Consumer Protection Agency, which passed both Houses last year but was never sent to the White House because President Ford had announced he would veto it.

The three most likely prospects for such a job, should Carter create it, are women - Esther Peterson, former assistant secretary of labor to President Kennedy and consumer adviser to President Johnson, Betty Furness, or Bess Myerson, former New York consumer officials.

Tax Tips

CPAs Review Tax Credit Opportunities

(Editor's Note): This is the second of five articles offering advice on filing 1976 Federal Income Tax Returns, prepared by the New York Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

NEW YORK—At tax filing time it's a fortunate taxpayer who qualifies for tax credits, for unlike deductions, exemptions, or exclusions, which reduce the taxable income, credits reduce, dollar for dollar, the amount of tax owed. Thus a dollar of credit is almost as good as a dollar in your pocket.

The Tax Reform Act of 1976 changed a couple of deductions into credits, while liberalizing conditions under which other credits can be claimed. The general tax credit introduced in 1975 has been retained through 1977. Individual taxpayers can take a credit equal to the greater of $35 per individual person exemption, or two per cent of the first $9,000 of taxable income.

The earned income credit of 10 per cent of the first $4,000 of earnings, will be available through Dec. 31, 1977. The credit is phased out as adjusted gross income rises from $4,000 to $8,000. Any excess of the credit over taxes owed is refundable in cash, and such refunds do not affect eligibility for federal or federally assisted welfare programs.

More people have been made eligible for this earned income credit. Previously, it was available only to taxpayers who maintained a household for a dependent child under 19 or a student for whom the taxpayer could take a personal exemption. For 1976 and 1977 the credit is also available to taxpayers with adult disabled dependents and to those who maintain a household for a child who is either a student or under 19, even if the youngster can't be claimed as a personal exemption.

An important change in the tax law benefits persons 65 years of age or over. The old retirement income credit has been liberalized in a number of ways. One of these is that all kinds of income, including earned income, and not just retirement income, is now included. Thus the credit is now called credit for the elderly.

It's so much easier now to qualify for the credit, since the requirement that an individual must have received more than $600 of earned income in each of the preceding 10 years has been dropped.

Not only does the credit now apply to all income, including earned income, but the maximum amount of income against which the 15 per cent credit can be claimed has been increased.

For single persons and for married couples filing jointly if only one spouse is 65 or over, the new credit base is $2,500.

For married couples filing jointly, if both are over 65, the base is $3,750. However, as under the old credit, the maximum credit base must be reduced dollar for dollar by social security, railroad retirement benefits, or other exempt pension benefits.

To limit the broadened credit to low and middle income taxpayers, the new law also adds a reduction based on income level.

There's also an investment credit of up to 10 per cent of the cost of machinery or equipment purchased for use in business. If last year you bought a car, for example, for use in business, that cost might qualify.

Another credit that should have widespread application in a presidential election year is that for political contributions. There is an option here; you could take the contribution as a deduction instead. The tax bracket you are in will determine which is preferable.

The old child care deduction has become a child care credit equal to 20 per cent of the employment-related expenses for care of a qualifying child or disabled dependent. The credit, which is non-refundable, is limited to $400 per year for the care of one individual or $800 for two or more.

There are several new wrinkles in this aspect of the law. Child care payments to relatives now qualify for the new credit. But there are important "ifs." The relative cannot be a dependent, and the relative's wages must be subject to social security taxes, which you, the employer, must remit. (In ordinary circumstances, putting a member of your family on the payroll for Social Security purposes is extremely difficult.)

The credit is now available to married couples even if one works full-time and the other is a part-time worker or a full-time student.

There is no longer any distinction between care rendered inside or outside of the home, although no credit is allowed for the care outside the home for a disabled spouse or dependent over 15.

The New York Society of CPAs recommends that you pay close attention to your possible eligibility for any of the tax credits; they can pay off handsomely.

The Frill of A Lifetime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Jose Lopez Portillo of Mexico this week became the first foreign government leader to sample President Carter's new "no frills" hospitality for visiting heads of state.

To the untrained eye, it might have appeared that Lopez Portillo's arrival at the White House was as ceremonious as usual. He was welcomed with the traditional honor guard, red carpet and 21-gun salute.

Close students of protocol insist there were subtle differences, however. For one thing, they pointed out that Carter's shoes were not as highly shined as is customary for such occasions. Moreover, they noted that Mrs. Carter was not wearing her best cologne.

"You can't eliminate all traces of formality overnight," one protocol expert told me. "It takes a while to get the hang of simplicity."

He said the Lopez Portillo visit should be counted as a practice run. By the time Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau arrived this week, week, more of the bugs were worked out, he said.

I was able to obtain a copy of the timetable for Trudeau's visit. The first day shaped up as follows: 9:45 a.m. — Prime Minister and Mrs. Trudeau leave Canadian Embassy on Massachusetts Ave. and walk to corner of 17th St. to catch 9:47 a.m. bus.

10:05 a.m. — 9:45 bus arrives. Escort officer reminded Trudeau to have exact change ready and be certain to ask for transfers.

10:27 a.m. — Bus arrived at Connecticut Ave. intersection. Trudeau dismount to transfer to 10:30 Pennsylvania Ave. bus.

10:34 a.m. — Trudeau catch 10:45 bus.

11:13 a.m. — Trudeau dismounted at 15th St., intersection and walk back one block to White House.

11:20 a.m. — President greets guests at front gate. He and Prime Minister had brief snowball fight.

11:25 a.m. — Mrs. Trudeau presented Mrs. Carter with bottle of Thunderbird wine as hostess present.

11:30 a.m. — President escorted Trudeau on tour of White House. Noting they are packing bedrolls, he invites them to crash there for the night.

12:15 p.m. — Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Trudeau head for kitchen to prepare bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwiches for lunch.

1:15 p.m. — President says he has to be getting back to office. Trudeau decided to take nap.

6 p.m. — Carters sent out for pizzas. To make occasion more festive, they open gift bottle of wine.

6:45 p.m. — After dinner, president entertains guests with home movies of 6962 vacation trip to Tallulah Falls, Ga.

7:05 p.m. — After first reel, Trudeau excused themselves and retire for night, explaining they had a lot to do tomorrow.

Faulty Jet Parts Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Administration says three of 23 types of allegedly bogus parts for Boeing jetliners could cause crashes or fires and must be replaced immediately.

New FAA orders, announced Wednesday, canceled original replacement schedules for the three parts. The order to speed up replacement followed just completed tests on the parts by the regulatory agency.

Original FAA orders Feb. 11 required airlines to replace 13 of the parts by March 15 and the remaining 10 parts by April 2. But a spokesman said the agency has changed its order to make airlines replace three of the parts immediately or take special precautions to insure they do not cause trouble.

Carter Easy on Gas Hoarders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter says natural gas producers are holding gas off the market and he might do the same if he were in their shoes.

That, says Carter, is one result of a "horrible conglomeration of confusion" surrounding present energy policies. He says his energy reorganization, to be submitted next week, and his comprehensive energy plan, to be unveiled in April, should end the confusion.

The President told a news conference Wednesday his plan, calling for sacrifices from all Americans, can succeed only if people are convinced they will get a rapid payoff. He believes they will.

Carter was asked why the public should accept sacrifices when the oil industry is suspected of holding natural gas off the market in hope of higher prices.

"I think it's obvious to all of us that there are some instances where natural gas is withheld from the market," he said. "That's understandable. If I was running an oil company, I would reserve the right to release or reserve some supplies of natural gas."

Senators Mull $14.5B Job Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two senators felt the government program to create jobs in high unemployment areas by funneling in federal dollars for construction work did not go far enough.

As a result, while the House scheduled floor action today on a $4 billion local public works bill, senators will have to consider a $14.5 billion package when separate legislation reaches them.

Speaker Thomas O'Neill said Wednesday he expects the House to complete action on the legislation quickly. He said the votes "are overwhelming to get that program on the road and started."

But in the Senate Public Works and Environment Committee, senators voted 7 to 1 to approve the expanded bill with added programs authored by Sens. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Robert Stafford, D-Vt.

Muskie's amendment added $9 billion, split evenly between fiscal years 1977 and 1978, for grants to states for construction of sewage treatment plants.

Stafford's proposal was for $1.5 billion to create jobs for unemployed teenagers between 16 and 19 years old.

Coffee Fans On Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Regardless of what finally happens to coffee prices, the people who sell it see one thing for certain — Americans will drink less of the brew even if the price goes down.

Ever since 1964, the last time there was a jump in coffee prices, consumption has declined in the United States on a per-person basis. Young people in particular are drinking more soft drinks, perhaps even wine and beer, when their predecessors drank coffee.

Representatives of the nation's two largest coffee sellers, General Foods (Maxwell House) and Procter and Gamble (Folger's) both expressed those thoughts about the future of coffee drinking during two days of congressional hearings into why the price of coffee has tripled.

Rep. Fred Richmond, D-N.Y., who co-chaired the investigation, said he is still not satisfied with what was learned. He said he will call a meeting March 7 of the assistant secretaries for international trade within the Treasury, State, Agriculture and Commerce Departments to look at the situation.

Unneeded Air Rules Costly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unnecessary government regulations cost air travelers an estimated $1.4 to $1.8 billion in higher fares during a 5-year period covered in a recent General Accounting Office report.

The GAO's 18-month study of the 1969-74 period disclosed fares may be anywhere from 22 per cent to 52 per cent higher than if the rigid rules of air fares and designated markets did not exist.

The study, released Wednesday, was requested by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who along with Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., has proposed a bill to permit airline price competition and make it easier for them to offer reduced-fare service to domestic markets.

The Civil Aeronautics Board agreed, according to the study, that current regulations no longer serve the public interest and greater competition can be had without them.

Another Tanker Spills Oil

HONOLULU (UPI) — An "unknown amount" of crude oil has leaked from a damaged 846-foot Liberian tanker 330 miles west of Honolulu, the Coast Guard reported today.

The Hawaiian Patriot, owned by Indo-Pacific Carriers of Monrovia, Liberia, was carrying at least 37 crewmen and 30 million gallons of Indonesian crude oil, according to John Pringle of Davies Marine, the ship's local agents.

The vessel, which was bound for Honolulu, reported a crack in her hull Wednesday evening and the Coast Guard dispatched a C130 plane to investigate.

Chief journalist Jim Gillman said the plane reported "an unknown amount of oil was leaking but because of darkness the extent of it was not known."

Meany Reassured On Carter Plan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — President Carter has assured AFL-CIO President George Meany that he will not force labor to swallow a distasteful anti-inflation program for monitoring wage increases, according to Meany's aides.

Meany received private assurances from the President this week after he announced labor will not cooperate with the administration's suggested program for overseeing wage and price increases.

Follow these simple instructions for greatest savings

FIRST, whoever is going to build or remodel your home should make a list of all the materials necessary for the job.

It's important that the person doing the job make the list. Experience has shown that two people seldom plan a job the same way so one person's list of materials will not fit another's construction technique. This can be an expensive mistake especially if special order products are used. Products like windows, doors and countertops.

Learning Means Saving

And frankly, any builder or homeowner who cannot list what he needs ahead of time is in for problems almost before he starts. If you don't know how to do the job, invest in some books, ask questions of knowledgeable people and, if possible, watch a similar job under construction. And ask your Lloydman or Lloyd lady what products are available. There's no savings when you use materials that can only be gotten at great expense and where delays are almost certain.

SECOND, give your list of materials to your Lloyd Manager. He may have an assistant do some of the pencil work but it's his responsibility to see that you get the benefit of all price breaks. For instance, you get a 13% reduction when you buy three Andersen windows but you get 17% when you buy four or more. If the order totals $2,000 you get 21%. And your list may very well go that high. Stock size Andersen units take a 25% reduction and Lloyd Lumber has a plan to save you as much as 29% if you plan well ahead of time.

If you're going to need an unusually large quantity of one product you can very likely save some money even if your Lloyd Manager doesn't have a quantity price in his price books. If he can eliminate much of the manhandling he'll pass the savings along to you.

As an example, Lloyd Lumber just supplied the Olympic Stain for a huge indoor riding ring. The stain was shipped in five gallon pails for extra savings plus the owner cut down the labor cost for application.

A group of neighbors get together every spring to buy driveway sealer. They save $1 on every five gallon pail buying it together.

THIRD . . . PLAN AHEAD

Prices of many building materials are going up dramatically due to the huge demand in California, the southeast and southwest. Not so many years ago a quote was guaranteed almost indefinitely. This year no quotes are guaranteed. In fact, the fine print on a quote says, "Prices shown are in effect at date shown. Prices charged will be those in effect at time of shipment."

We're not trying to fool you. All products are sold at P.T.S. That's Price Time of Shipment.

In most cases we will order and hold materials for you if you pay us in advance. Your first thought might be, "Sure, and lose the interest on the money if I left it in the bank." And you're right. But it's almost for sure that prices will increase faster than interest rates. Even "normal" inflation is higher than what the banks are paying and building materials unfortunately are increasing faster than "normal."

Saving By Switching

Occasionally you can save money by substituting one product for another. Depending on availability and price, your Lloyd Manager may suggest a switch where he knows one material will do the job as well as another. He may even recommend a new product which you don't know about. Several builders are using Styrofoam TG insulated sheathing in place of plywood or cheap black "insulated sheathing." The Styrofoam costs less than the plywood and insulates so thoroughly that the increase over the black sheathing is saved in fuel within a few years.

Planning well in advance often saves money. An order which comes directly from the manufacturer as part of a regular shipment obviously costs less than the same material ordered at the last minute from a wholesaler.

LAST, even if you do everything wrong . . . no list of materials, no planning ahead, no working closely with a Lloyd Manager . . . You'll still benefit by buying from the Lloyd Lumber Company. The company is big enough to buy at lowest prices direct from building material manufacturers, but small enough not to be overwhelmed with expensive red tape. Lloyd Lumber Managers share in the success of their particular lumberyards or "building centers" as we've begun to call them. They care a great deal about getting and keeping your business.

PLEASE EXAMINE THIS QUOTATION WITH CARE, SINCE IT COVERS ONLY THE MATERIALS SPECIFIED AND NO RESPONSIBILITY IS ASSUMED FOR ERRORS IN CALCULATIONS OF SIZES AND LENGTHS. STENOGRAPHICAL AND CLERICAL ERRORS ARE SUBJECT TO CORRECTIONS. OWING TO THE UNCERTAIN CONDITIONS RELATIVE TO THE SUPPLY OF BUILDING MATERIALS, ALL QUOTATIONS ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE AND ALL ORDERS ARE SUBJECT TO ACCEPTANCE BY US. ALL ORDERS ENTERED ARE ACCEPTED SUBJECT TO OUR ABILITY TO FILL THEM.

Heart Drive Drawing to Close

Local effort expected to top $200,000 mark

Funds Will Further Various Research Projects

KINGSTON — National heart research is by no means a vague or remote term to the American Heart Association's Mid-Hudson Chapter, which in the past eight years has allocated $181,079 in local dollars for research projects.

As the February Heart Month campaign draws to a close, predictions are that the local effort will top the $200,000 mark in total research allocations, according to Brendon D. Alexander of Kingston, president of the Mid-Hudson Chapter.

While procedures used in the research are sophisticated and complex, the benefits of the knowledge gained are easy to appreciate for those whose lives may be saved by it. A better understanding of how heart muscles are controlled by chemicals and nerves is coming from a two-year study project by Dr. Oliver M. Brown, whose work is being aided by Mid-Hudson Chapter funds.

Using surgical and spectrometric procedures on the hearts of cats, Dr. Brown has isolated a certain chemical, acetylcholine, in several areas of the heart and has begun to clarify how this chemical interacts with the parasympathetic nervous system.

"An understanding of the nervous control of the heart will further our ability to prevent, diagnose and treat various heart diseases," said Dr. Brown, whose results were described in the September issue of the American Journal of Physiology.

Another MHC-funded researcher, Dr. Joel P. Abrahams, is working at St. Joseph's Hospital in Syracuse on a project aimed at identifying significant factors in patients who suffer from angina pectoris but whose coronary arteries are normal.

Ordinarily a difficult problem to deal with, the angina syndrome in patients with normal coronary arteries could yield to effective treatment if significant common factors can be identified, Abrahams said.

Dr. William A. Warren, a research physician supported by MHC in 1974-75, did important studies of creatine kinase, an enzyme whose presence in the blood can be tested in diagnosis of myocardial infarctions and other heart muscle diseases.

Dr. Warren's work also involved the isolation of certain antigens which cause rejection of transplanted tissues. His goal was to modify heart transplant reactions with biologically active substances.

Another MHC grant went to Dr. Isidore Danishefsky, who worked at New York Medical College at Valhalla on a chemical known as "factor VII," whose understanding could lead to the design of better anticoagulants.

Each year, about 28 percent of the Mid-Hudson Chapter's heart dollars goes into American Heart Association research. And each year, grants are made to local specialists working on projects chosen by the local chapter's research committee from a list approved by the AHA.

Since the first Heart Fund campaign in 1949, a nationwide total of $268 million has gone to cardiovascular research.

"Those dollars — all donated by the American people during Heart Fund drives — have worked miracles in saving babies born with defective hearts, mothers who would once have died before their babies could walk, and young fathers who might have left their families homeless and hungry," the MHC said.

Queens for Heart

Mid-Hudson Chapter of American Heart Association benefited to the tune of more than $500 from the sell-out Valentine dinner-dance held at the Colonnade. Sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi Chapters, a highlight was the crowning of the three queens, elected by each of the chapters by secret ballot. Here, Major Francis R. Koenig does the honors: Mrs. Louis (Doris) Mariotti, Preceptor Tau Chapter vice president; Mrs. Daniel (Barbara) Saxe, Gamma Chi Chapter, chairperson of the social committee; and Mrs. George (Polly) Stone, Xi Alpha Omega Chapter, chairperson of the service committee. Also adding to the heart coffers were the proceeds from a recent flower sale when more than 500 dozen anemones were sold to Ulster County "flower lovers with big hearts."

Historical Society to Hear about 1776 Era Drugs

RHINEBECK — The Rhinebeck Historical Society will have its first open house meeting of the year at the town hall, Friday, Feb. 25, 7:30 p.m. A talk and demonstration on the Art of Pharmacy and Medicine as practiced during the Revolutionary War will be given by the Town Historian and pharmacist, DeWitt Gurnell.

His address will discuss the lives of Dr. Annanias Cooper, local practitioner, Dr. Hans Kierstad, surgeon, in Washington's Army at Valley Forge, and pharmacist Benedict Arnold. The latter lived in old Rhinebeck (Staatsburgh) for a while before becoming an officer in the Revolutionary War.

A pharmacy display, including old iron mortar and pestle, pill rollers, suppository molds (which during the war were used for making bullets), old apothecary bottles, and crude drugs, will be demonstrated by the speaker. He will be assisted by Edwin Hesse and Dorothy Pucci, registered pharmacists who ran the Old Apothecary Shop in the Village of 1776 at the Dutchess County Fair.

Anyone who has old apothecary proprietary bottles is invited to show them with the display.

DeWitt Gurnell is looking for interested citizens willing to take part in the coming local celebration of the New York State Bicentennial of 1777.

Kindergarten to Start at St. Mary's

SAUGERTIES — "Our parents have asked for it," said Mrs. Charles Cavanagh, president of St. Mary's of the Snow Home-School Association, as she announced that September 1977 would see a kindergarten initiated at St. Mary's School. She, with Mrs. Michael Catalinotto and Mrs. John Murphy, formed a committee which polled Saugerties area parents and discovered that almost all interviewed expressed a wish for a parochial school kindergarten.

Sister Margaret Taylor, principal of St. Mary's School said that she felt that this was just one more expression on the part of parents that a religiously oriented value-centered education was an essential need for their children. She expressed her thanks for the continued cooperation of parents, faculty and students in maintaining the academic excellence which has kept student achievement well above the national norm. She pointed out the academic value of all students entering the first grade in St. Mary's having the same teacher and unity of subject matter. The kindergarten at St. Mary's would also prevent the necessity of children having to make a dual adjustment to their class environment, once in kindergarten and again in first grade. Parents, she believes, would be quick to recognize the advantage of having all younger children in the same school.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, pastor of St. Mary's said that when the intention of starting a kindergarten was presented to the parish council by Salvatore Verrastro, chairman of the education committee, the council gave its unanimous approval. Father Farrelly noted that many changes had come to St. Mary's School in the 96 years that the school had been in existence.

It was Jan. 6, 1881, when six Sisters of Charity of Mount Saint Vincent crossed the frozen Hudson in a blinding snow storm to start a school at St. Mary's in Saugerties. He felt that in the long course of continued betterment of the school, the establishment of a kindergarten was a most progressive move.

Enrollment for kindergarten and first grade will take place in the school on Cedar Street, Saugerties, March 7, 8, and 9 from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. Information may be obtained at the school, or from members of the parents committee or the Home School Association.

'Alice' to Start Friday at Coleman

KINGSTON—The Children's Theatre of John A. Coleman High School, Hurley Ave., will present its musical version of "Alice in Wonderland" starting Friday night, Feb. 25. The script, which was adapted by Coleman students, Bernard Gray, Carmelo Tornatore, and Judith Milne, is designed to capture the interest of children and adults. The excitement of Wonderland is evident: a place where cats talk, flowers sing and dance, people celebrate un-birthdays 364 days a year and everyone has fun by pretending.

The role of Alice is being played by Elaine Cannon, and her faithful companion, the Cheshire Cat, by Patrick Long. Mary Cicale will portray the White Rabbit and the crazy trio of the March Hare, the Mad Hatter and Dormouse will be played by John Higbee, Judith Milne, and Sharon Cote. The wicked Queen of Hearts is being played by Carolyn Wickman, and her husband the King, by Robert Gardiner. Lyn Pampel takes on the role of the Dutchess and Charles McCullough is the ever popular and hilarious Humpty Dumpty.

The entire production consists of more than 150 students, 52 of whom are cast members. Lyn Koster will be pianist and Virginia Cicale, chorus director at Coleman, is lending her talents to perfect the musical numbers. Mary Ellen Watzka is again choreographer after demonstrating her talents in last year's production.

Gerard M. Gretzinger is the director of Children's Theatre. This year he is being assisted by student producer, Bernard Gray, who is a member of the junior class.

Several dedicated parents have volunteered their services: Thomas Kearney, construction director; his wife, Myra, original costume designs; Jean Kren, costume chairman; and Theodore Macenka, sound system and other areas.

The curtain goes up on opening night, Friday, 7:30 p.m. Additional performances are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday; and Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 4, 5 and 6, at 7:30 p.m. Matinees on Saturday and Sunday will be at 2 p.m.

Last year, the Coleman group entertained more than 3,000 people with many performances sold out in advance. Tickets are being sold at the Carvel store in the Mammoth Mall and Bankers Trust, Wall Street Branch. Reservations may be made by calling the school office between 9 and 3 o'clock, school days.

Frozen Pipe Benefit

A chowder and fish supper will be held at the Community Church of High Falls, Saturday, Feb. 26, 5 p.m. The proceeds from this endeavor will go towards the cost of replacing frozen water pipes in the elementary church school building. Making preparations are Alfred Friedman, George Williams, cook; Ellen Boice, and Clifford Schoonmaker, "plumber."

Students Updating History of Home

STONE RIDGE—Four students from Ulster County Community College are in the process of updating the history of the Children's Home of Kingston as part of a class project. The four are Donald Bell, Saugerties; Ronald Doyne, Kerhonkson; Theresa Hutter, High Falls; and Sue Warren, West Park.

All are students in a comparative government course taught by Prof. Harry Matzen. They are working with Mrs. Connie Whitehurst, director of volunteer services and community relations at the Children's Home located at 26 Grove St. Lawrence B. Siewers, executive director of the Children's home, feels this endeavor is an excellent piece of cooperation between his agency and the community college.

The students will be updating a history originally written in 1967. To make it easier for the students to do their research, the Children's Home is bringing research materials to the Macdonald DeWitt Library on the Stone Ridge campus. Professor Matzen reports that the students are doing this research project in lieu of doing a requirement term paper for his comparative government class.

Program on Maple Syrup Production

EAST JEWETT—The Mountain Top Historical Society invites the public to attend a program on maple syrup production at the sap house of Thomas Hitchcock in East Jewett, tonight at 8 o'clock. The live presentation will include slide pictures, a tour of the sap house and an explanation of the equipment. If the weather is favorable, Thomas Hitchcock will boil sap and explain the process of maple syrup production.

Hitchcock has a small operation in East Jewett which produces syrup for himself, his family and local children who help to gather the sap. During the past four years he has produced a portion for marketing. He has lived in the area for virtually his entire life and is a math teacher at the Bethlehem Central schools in Delmar. The production of maple syrup in the Catskills dates back to the Indians, and through the years has been a major occupation of farmers.

The sap house is located in the barn of Thomas Hitchcock's father, Elwood Hitchcock and is located a half mile past the junction of Rt. 23C and Scribner Hollow Road in East Jewett. The barn is situated on the left hand side of the road, behind the large white house of Elwood Hitchcock. A sign will be posted to identify the location.

'Mean Gene'

Fred (F.J.) Wadnola, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wadnola Sr. of Lake Katrine, focuses his attention on a slide in his microscope looking for "mean gene" in his effort to find the cause of diabetes. However, other more elaborate and expensive efforts are underway across the country. Research projects which are investigating possible pancreatic cell transplant techniques and development of artificial pancreatic "beta cells" to cure or better control diabetes are being funded by the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. The Ulster County Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation will be conducting a doorto-door canvass of Ulster County during May. Anyone interested in collecting donations in their neighborhood is invited to contact Paul Misove Jr., county chairman of the drive, Ronald Smith, or Theodore Benson, co-chairmen in the city of Kingston; or write JDF, Box 24, Lake Katrine, N.Y. 12449.

Children's Art Exhibit Set At Communications Village

KINGSTON—Communications Village Ltd., 241 Catherine Street, is sponsoring an exhibition of drawings, paintings, prints and photographs by children who participated in the Children's Workshop last summer. The show is open now through Sunday, Feb. 27, from 3 to 7 p.m. daily.

The basic workshop, which ran for six weeks, was conducted by Mary Wigfall. The photo workshop was conducted by Rose Tripoli.

The Children's Workshop was a natural outgrowth of the print portfolio production at Communications Village, which has been funded in part by the New York State Council on the Arts. Youngsters in the community met visiting artists and attended lectures and demonstrations, and began, spontaneously, to visit the studio to see what was going on. When they began asking for paper to draw on, steps were taken to provide them with their own workshops.

Although the studio is already pressed for space for print editioning, its primary objective, space and time were rearranged to satisfy the eagerness and enthusiasm of the visiting youngsters.

The current workshop show was put together and hung by the participating children. They have planned a reception on Sunday, Feb. 27, from 2 to 5 p.m., and will serve as guides at the exhibit.

DEAR ABBY

Threatens to Leave Because of Job

DEAR ABBY: I've heard of wives who have threatened to leave their husbands unless they gave up their dangerous jobs as policemen. Well, I'm about to leave my husband because of his dangerous job, only he's not a cop, but a newspaper truck driver who drives 200 miles a night, five nights a week.

My husband (I'll call him Mike) is in the hospital from his second serious accident in five years. Five years ago a drunk hit him head on. Both Mike's legs were broken and his finger was torn off. (The drunk was killed instantly.)

Last week, Mike hit a deer! The deer's legs came right through the windshield and into the cab of the truck. The deer proceeded to kick Mike in the face. Luckily a constable arrived on the scene and shot the deer, or it might have kicked Mike to death.

All Mike's front teeth were knocked out, and it took 65 stitches to sew his face up.

Abby, newspapers must be delivered, so Mike goes out in all kinds of weather. Sometimes these Pennsylvania roads are one sheet of ice, and it's so foggy you can't see your hand in front of your face. He's been driving for 20 years, and lately, every time I say goodbye to him, I'm a nervous wreck until he gets home safe.

I've begged him to get a different job, but he won't. If you or anyone else can offer a reasonable suggestion for coping with this problem, I'll listen. I love Mike with all my heart and figure if he loved me as much, he'd see my point and change jobs.—MIKE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If you've begged Mike to change jobs and he's refused, it's evidence that he's doing what he wants to do and probably what he does best.

Granted, his job has a higher risk factor than most, but threatening to leave him will only undermine his confidence in himself and add yet another burden to his already burdensome job.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I raised three fine daughters. Two are now happily married. Our youngest, 23, has fallen in love with an assistant college professor who doesn't even have enough money to buy her an engagement ring.

They want to get married with "no muss, no fuss" (her words). All they want at the ceremony are his parents, their sisters and brothers, us, a few of their close friends and the preacher!

Should we allow our daughter, a fifth-generation American, to get married without dignity like a West Virginia Hillbilly?—UNHAPPY IN VIRGINIA

DEAR UNHAPPY: Every bride is entitled to the kind of wedding she wants. And her plans sound dignified enough to me.

P.S. And what do you mean, "allow"? At 23, she doesn't need your permission—or even your presence. Just be glad she wants YOU there.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school, and my parents still treat me like I was 2 years old. Last Friday night I went to a basketball game with some kids and said I'd be home by 12:30 p.m. Well, I didn't get home until 1:25 a.m., but it wasn't my fault. The kid who owned the car went for a ride afterward, and I couldn't get home without him.

When I got home my mother was practically in hysterics. My father said if I'd been gone another five minutes they'd have called the police.

I've been grounded for six months. I tried to explain that it wasn't my fault, and if they'd let me off this time it would never happen again, but they wouldn't listen. Don't you think their punishment is too rough for what I did? — GROUNDED

DEAR GROUNDED: Yes. But if you take your punishment like a man, perhaps your parents will be so impressed with the maturity of your behavior, they'll shorten the grounding time. Try it.

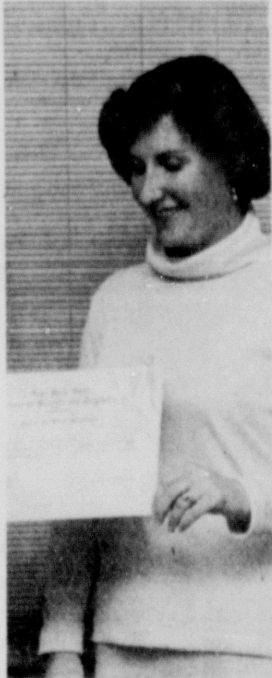

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Kingston's Ron Mapes is caught in ballet-like form against Mahopac

KHS Escapes With Win After Frantic Finish

By BRUCE GOLDBERG

KINGSTON—How to blow a five-point lead with three seconds left in the game...The Kingston High School varsity basketball team almost gave a clinic in that dubious strategy Wednesday night before subduing Mahopac, 61-59, in a first round game of the Section One AA tournament at Kate Walton Field House.

It was the climax to a wild fourth quarter in which the visiting Indians came from 10 points down to tie the game twice, the last time at 54-all with 1:40 left. Although the Tigers outscored the Indians, 7-5, the rest of the way, they almost gave the game away at the end.

The Tigers (9-8) now get to play powerhouse Yonkers on Saturday at Iona College in the quarterfinals. Mahopac finishes its season at 8-11, and it may have played its last cage game for quite a while due to budget problems.

"I hope we do a little better against Yonkers than we did last year," said KHS coach Mike Rienzo, referring to the 55-38 loss in the 1976 sectionals. "It should be interesting."

Wednesday's game marked the final home appearance of senior guard Darrell Mills, a 5-foot-6 package of dynamite who has sparked the Tigers for three seasons. His 20 points, eight assists, floor leadership and quickness led the Tigers over Mahopac, which couldn't cope with his speed and ability to score from both long-range and on driving layups.

"I'm going to miss it," said Mills. "I've been playing for the school for three years now. I just wish we could have had a better season...Most likely I'll go to Ulster Community College next year."

KHS maintained a six to 10-point edge most of the way Wednesday and led, 50-40, with 6:27 left in the game when it went into a shooting slump. With Mahopac's 6-4 Kevin Edwards getting the ball inside and the Indians hitting four free throws, they tied it at 52-all with 2:35 left. Andy O'Connor and Mills traded baskets to tie it at 54. After Mahopac missed two shots, Ron Mapes got the rebound, missed a shot and Jay Foust put it in.

The Indians threw the ball away out of bounds and Rienzo called a timeout with 52 seconds to go. Clark Waters hit the front end of a one and one, and when Mahopac missed at its end, Foust sent a full court pass to Mills, who scored on a layup. Jimmy Leist hit to make it 59-56, but Bobby Easter's bucket with 18 seconds remaining made it 61-56, then he stole the ball.

KHS' Clark Waters (32) goes up for two

Kingston called another timeout six seconds from the end after losing the ball. When play resumed, Mahopac lost the ball on the inbounds pass through Edwards' hands, and just three seconds were left.

It was here that KHS nearly blew it. First, Mills threw the ball inbounds to Chris Hillery, who scored a basket. Mapes was called for a technical foul for slapping the backboard on Hillery's basket, and Hillery hit the freebie to make it 61-59. Mahopac got the ball out of bounds with one second left and had a chance to tie it, but the inbounds pass went sailing through the hands of one Indian and Kingston won the game.

"We had a five-point lead with three seconds left to play and we pulled a showboat stunt," mused Rienzo. "We were sure cold in that final quarter—we must have missed five layups that could have iced the game. I couldn't believe it."

Mills' 20 points led KHS scorers. Foust added 14 points and 11 rebounds and Easter canned 15 markers. Leist had 21 and Edwards 19 for Mahopac. The Tigers shot a woeful .358 from the field, 29 of 81. Box on page 18.

Sawyers Take the Charity

HARRISON — On some last minute heroics from the foul line, the Saugerties High School varsity basketball team Wednesday night lunched over Harrison, 59-56, in an opening round Class A Section I basketball tournament game.

Sinking four free throws out of five chances from the line in the final minute, Jim Hackett gave the Sawyers the edge they needed to earn their way into the quarterfinals Saturday at Iona College against Gorton High School of Yonkers.

"The guys are up, happy, and will play anybody," said Saugerties coach Dick Colavita after the win. "They know how good Gorton is, and we're going to do the best we can."

In other Class A Tournament games, Horace Greeley defeated Yorktown, 62-51; Port Chester trounced John Jay of Cross River, 108-64; Walter Panas scored a 63-60 triumph over Fox Lane; Sleepy Hollow turned back Scarsdale, 61-52; and Poughkeepsie stunned Lakeland, 73-63. Horace Greeley now moves into the quarterfinals against Port Chester, while Panas will meet Sleepy Hollow, and Poughkeepsie takes on Carmel.

In Class AA, Kingston edged Mahopac, 61-59; White Plains defeated Lincoln, 63-55; New Rochelle drubbed Ossining, 84-54; Arlington beat Mamaroneck, 61-43; and Rosevelt of Yonkers took Roosevelt of Hyde Park, 60-46. In the quarterfinals, Kingston will face Yonkers, White Plains will take on New Rochelle, Arlington will go up against John Jay, and Roosevelt of Yonkers will face Mount Vernon.

Class B results show Peekskill downing JFK of Somers, 57-52; Beacon handling Spackenkill 72-54; Blessed Sacrament controlling Pelham 76-64; Hendrick Hudson beating Hastings 93-66; Westlake taking Valhalla 64-53; and Rye defeating Ardsley, 72-49. JFK will meet Woodlands in the quarterfinals, Beacon will face Blessed Sacrament, Hendrick Hudson will take on Westlake, and Rye will be pitted against Byram Hills.

In Class C, Rye Neck dropped Croton, 66-46; Pawling squeezed by Pine Plains, 69-66; Dobbs Ferry crushed Webetuck, 91-65; Bronxville beat Blind Brook 48-35; Our Lady of Lourdes handled Cedar Knolls, 79-73; Alexander Hamilton took North Salem 72-65; Rhinebeck defeated Millbrook 59-44; and Pleasantville was a 94-47 victor over Irvington. The pairings for the quarterfinal round have Rye Neck against Pawling, Dobbs Ferry against Bronxville, Our Lady of Lourdes facing Alexander Hamilton, and Rhinebeck meeting Pleasantville.

At the halfway point of the fourth quarter Wednesday, Saugerties was down by seven when Tim Cole hit for eight points to put the Sawyers back in the ball game. With 56 seconds remaining in the game, Harrison was up by one, 56-55, but Hackett hit the four free throws down the stretch to pull it out.

The teams kept pace with each other early, as Harrison was only to gain a 28-25 halftime advantage.

"We were hot from the outside in the first quarter but then we went cold from the outside," said Colavita. "In the second quarter, we played man-to-man defense which loosened us up and we moved the ball better."

Kevin Chiarot, working on Harrison's John Mager, held him to two field goals in the second half after he had scored 13 points before intermission. "That really helped us," said Colavita. "Kevin cut him down." The aggressiveness of Cole and Hackett also forced Andy Ribertella away from the hoop and out of the game on fouls.

Cole had 19 points to lead his team, while Ribertella took game honors with 23.

Says Colavita of Saturday's game with Gorton, "I may try a different strategy. We know we have to play the most outstanding game of our lives."

Rhinebeck Trips Millbrook

RHINEBECK — On a strong defensive effort, the Rhinebeck High School varsity basketball team defeated Millbrook, 59-44, Wednesday, in Class C of the Section I basketball tournament. The Indians will now move into the quarterfinal round Saturday against Pleasantville at Dutchess Community College.

"We played a poor offensive game in the first half," said Rhinebeck coach Bob Ahlin. "Our defense kept us in the game."

Rhinebeck led 23-22 at the half but took advantage of Millbrook turnovers in the third quarter to open the gap.

"We were pressing and we got the fast break," Ahlin said, "but an important factor was the foul line." Rhinebeck was 19 for 59 in free throws, while Millbrook, getting only 10 chances, converted two.

Both John Ohan and Steve Sherman tied for the game high with 17 points. Sherman also leaped for 13 rebounds. Rich Baker and Jeff Flannery each had 12 points for Millbrook.

The win was the eighth straight for Rhinebeck, which is now 13-6 for the season.

Louis Decker By Pains

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Joe Louis was ordered by his doctor to rest at home for a few days after suffering angina pains Wednesday that the former heavyweight boxing champion believes stemmed from an old wrestling injury.

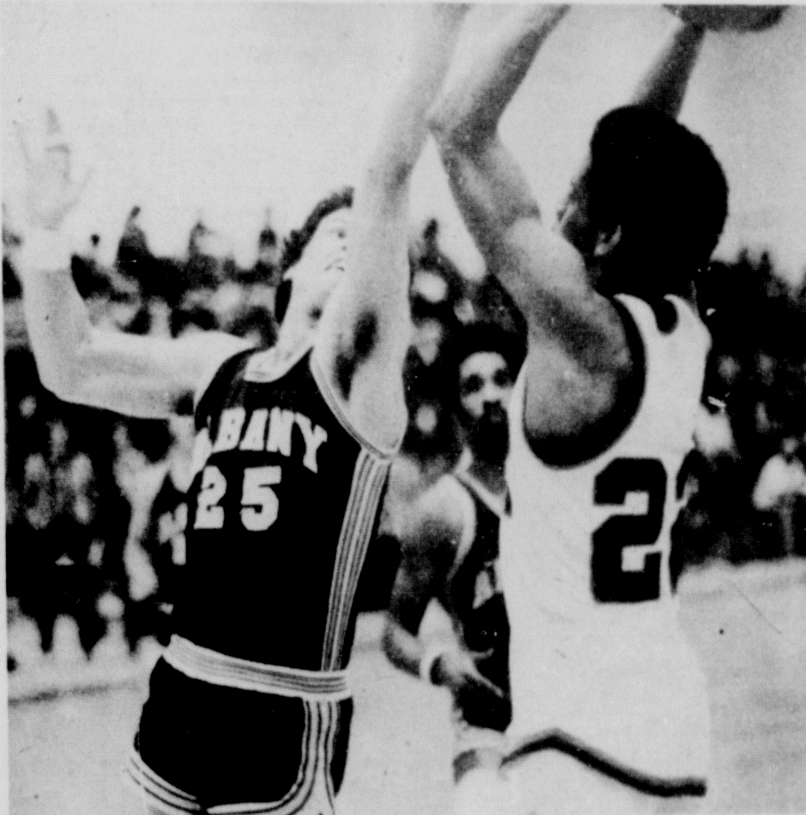

Louis, 62, complained of the pains in his chest and stomach during the afternoon and was examined at a hospital by his own physician, Dr. Harold L. Miller.

"There was some abdominal pain and chest pain but his electrocardiogram was okay," Miller said. "It doesn't appear to be anything serious at this time."

Louis, who has been carrying some extra weight and drinking and smoking perhaps too much for his own good, has not seemed in peak health in recent months. But he says the angina problem lingers from an injury he suffered more than 25 years ago after he retired from the ring.

"This all started when I was wrestling," Louis said from his home after canceling a speaking engagement Thursday night at the Alabama Hall of Fame. "A guy weighing 360 pounds named Cowboy Rocky Lee stepped on my chest and damaged some heart muscles."

Miller ordered Louis to return home and rest for two or three days. "With his personality as sensitive as it is, I don't want to say anything more. He's a very sensitive individual. He wants everything low key. The condition wasn't serious enough to go into the hospital. Nothing of the nature indicated hospitalization or more than an office visit. He's got some commitments in Ohio in the first part of March and he's planning to keep them."

Albany Clinches SUNYAC Tie by Downing Hawks

NEW PALTZ — All things considered except the score, the New Paltz State basketball team played a pretty good ball game Wednesday night against powerful Albany State, which took this opportunity to clinch a tie for its first State University of New York Athletic Conference title.

The Great Danes defeated the Hawks 96-66, but it was as if each team was playing its own ball game, doing the best it could at what it did.

"This is the first game this season that we really haven't been in," said New Paltz coach Joe Donovan. "We stayed with them for a while, but when we lost ground and realized we weren't gaining, we played for experience. We give it all we had, they were just better."

The Hawks used the press to the final gun and it worked effectively for them in the early going, giving the Great Danes some anxious moments. Then a six-foot-seven center by the name of Barry Cavanaugh happened to the Hawks and things were never the same.

"After the first five minutes they busted the game wide open," said Donovan. "We didn't score in the last five or six minutes of the first half and hit a dry spell for the first three or four in the second half."

The drought enabled the Great Danes to sit on top of a 44-29 halftime score and increase that lead early in the second half, but that didn't stop the Hawks as they hustled right to the end. Russ Eber, playing his first game in two weeks, led Vaughn Dweck, Steve Burns and freshman Tony Lewis off the bench to pester Albany with aggressive play that almost neutralized the 41-32 advantage the Great Danes enjoyed on the boards.

Albany played an aggressive man-to-man defense, but switched back and forth to the zone as New Paltz was getting the fast break.

"We broke pretty well, but they were just a little too much for us," said Donovan. "We played man-to-man and then tried the zone but they would back off and hold the ball. We didn't want to stand around — we wanted to play so we went back to the man-to-man defense."

Keith Yizar, the Hawks top scorer, spent three-fourths of the game as a spectator as he got into foul trouble early. "He had four fouls by the start of the second half," said Donovan, "and that hurt us. The fouls rendered him ineffective for us."

Eddie Teuten replaced Yizar on the court and did a good job defensively for the Hawks while scoring five points.

Albany State shot 38 for 69 from the floor, while the Hawks managed 22 for 60. "They took more shots and were hitting the open man underneath," related Donovan.

Burns compiled the best scoring record for the Hawks, shooting eight field goals and two free throws for 16 points. Albany placed both Cavanaugh and Staton Winston at the 20 mark and placed two other men in double figures.

Albany is now 9-1 in the SUNYAC while New Paltz stands at 6-16 overall. The Hawks will be in Plattsburgh Saturday, for their next test.

Reprieved Barons Can Concentrate on Hockey

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — The Cleveland Barons, their team retrieved from financial ruin only hours before, gave it a good shot Wednesday night before dropping a 5-3 decision to the Buffalo Sabres.

"When you hit the ice, those problems should be at the back of your mind," said defenseman Len Frig, "but we must of given them three goals" through sloppy play.

"But it's cleared up now and I think we are going to come around. We can put our full 100 per cent into hockey now and not worry if it should we sell our homes."

On goals by Dave Gardner and Jim Neilson, the Barons led 2-1 after the first period before the Sabres ran off four straight goals.

Brian Spencer had two goals and one assist for Buffalo while Rene Robert had two assists to stretch his string to 15 points in the last 10 games.

In a brief news conference before the game, Barons' player representative Bob Stewart and NHL Vice President Don Ruck echoed Frig's hope in discussing an announcement from New York that the league, the NHL Players Association and principal owner Mel Swig were contributing $1.3 million in order for the team to finish the season.

Ruck, describing himself as an optimist, was asked the odds the Barons would return next season.

"I'd give it nine on a scale of 10," he said. "I think the NHL has faith in the Cleveland market."

"Cleveland comes in with a history of proud success in minor league hockey, while Oakland (the team's home for nine years as the California Golden Seals) didn't have that."

"I personally remain very optimistic that Cleveland has the potential of being a great hockey town. Not a good one, but a great one."

In New York, it was made clear by all parties that the rescue operation would enable the Barons to complete the 21 games remaining on their current schedule.

Alan Eagleson, head of the players association, said the $1.3 million would cover all payments due on player contracts, insurance payments, all unpaid wages, all pension benefits and operating costs for the club, including any and all league assessments. In addition, the three players cut earlier this month by Swig—Glenn Patrick, Phil Roberto and Frank Spring—are guaranteed their salaries.

To repay the loan to the Players Association, at least six and as many as 12 extra exhibition games will be scheduled prior to the next two seasons, with the association receiving all proceeds outside of house costs. The previous limit of eight exhibition games per team is being raised to nine.

"The players will have to go into camp two or three days earlier and I don't know if they're going to like this," Eagleson said, adding that he expected favorable response in the best interests of the game.

Stewart also was optimistic about the club's future.

"The future for hockey in Cleveland looks much brighter now as far as Mr. Greenberg is concerned, I understand."

Sandy Greenberg, owner of the Midwest Coliseum, where the team plays, made an offer to purchase which Swig rejected 10 days ago.

"There is the possibility even more now than before, that Mr. Greenberg or someone else will step in," Stewart said. "Hopefully by the June player association meeting everything will be straightened out."

Tuesday night, the Barons said they would not play another game unless their back pay was received and Swig relinquished his ownership. However, they backed down on the Swig issue Wednesday.

"I hope this is the last day this is ever talked about," said coach Jack Evans. "We've got the rest of the season left, and let's see what we can do with it."

Buffalo's Craig Ramsey said he saw no problems with team's playing an extra exhibition game next year to pay off the $600,000 loan the Players Association had taken out. However, he warned, "I think this is a one shot thing," referring to bailing out the franchise by the association and the league.

"This team has had so much trouble in the years they've been together. If we were in that position, we'd be hoping the others would step in. We can't be stepping in to bail out teams," he said. "The owners have to set this up before the season starts."

Rangers Determined to Bypass Atlanta

TORONTO (UPI) — Prior to the New York Rangers' 5-4 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday night New York's future looked dim while Toronto's was as positive as a berth in the playoffs.

After 60 minutes of hockey both clubs' outlook reversed dramatically.

The Rangers' win put within two points of the Atlanta Flames who hold down the third and final playoff spot in the Patrick Division. Toronto, in turn, lost more personnel and more ground in its race to catch second place Buffalo in the Adams Division of the NHL.

Although New York led by three goals from Walt Tkaczuk, Rod Gilbert and Ron Greshner, 22 minutes into the game, Toronto tied it on two goals by captain Darryl Sittler around one by Dave Williams in the second period.

Inge Hammarstrom gave Toronto a short-lived 4-3 lead at 8:27 of the third period but New York coach John Ferguson watched Gilbert score his second goal at 9:53 with Phil Esposito connecting for the winner 39 seconds later.

"I think we'll make the playoffs with the spirit the team showed in the last period. They displayed real confidence and that adds to our motivation," said Ferguson.

He said that his club's younger players, aided with the experience of the veterans, "will balance out the drive needed to get in and through the playoffs."

Toronto coach Red Kelly, already worried about injuries, has more to think about after Bob Neely suffered a second period rib injury and did not return for the remainder of the game.

"We are sure to make the playoffs but our ranks are slowly diminishing," Kelly said referring to the absence of Borje Salming (bruised hip), Claire Alexander (broken arm), Kurt Walker (knee ligaments) and Brian Glennie who played despite a badly swollen foot.

"There is no word on Neely at the moment," said Kelly. "Our injuries are piling up and you can see the inadequacies of the combinations out there. We've got our hands full up until the playoffs, and the rest of the season is not going to be a picnic."

Canadiens 4, Flames 2
Guy Lafleur proved himself as good an attraction as the circus.

Lafleur has 46 goals already this season, but until Wednesday he scored them in little bunches of ones and twos.

Then the premier Montreal Canadiens right wing visited Atlanta, a team against which he managed only two goals in four games last year and none in Monday night's nationally televised contest.

With the ice still new — therefore brittle and slow — because the circus had just left the Omni, the National Hockey League's leading scorer nevertheless registered his first hat trick of the season, scoring three goals before a nearcapacity crowd of 14,705 to spark the defending Stanley Cup champions to a 4-2 triumph.

Lafleur got his first goal in the first period and two more in the second against Flames goalie Don Bouchard, boosting his total to 46 for the year. He took advantage of two break-away opportunities, scoring on both occasions.

"Bouchard is tough to beat," said Lafleur after beating him three times. "He is one of the better goalies in the league."

The victory boosted the Canadiens to the 100-point mark with their 45th win against just seven losses and 10 ties and exalted Montreal's unbeaten skien to 16 games.

Murray Wilson got the other goal for Montreal and Larry Romanchych and Eric Vail scored for Atlanta.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Buffalo topped Cleveland 5-3, Chicago beat Detroit 5-2 and Minnesota nipped Boston 2-1.

In the World Hockey Association, Phoenix dumped Winnipeg 6-3 and Calgary squeaked by Houston 3-2.

Black Hawks 5, Red Wings 2

Phil Russell, Darcy Rota and Ivan Boldirev scored within a 49-second span midway through the third period to snap Chicago's four-game losing streak. Detroit rookies Bob Ritchie and Dave Kelly had first period goals, their first in the NHL following their trade to Detroit from Philadelphia.

North Stars 2, Bruins 1
Steve Jensen and Ernie

Hicke scored to back the goal-keeping of Pete LoPresti and boost Minnesota within three points of idle Colorado for the final playoff spot in the Smythe Division. LoPresti stopped 23 Boston shots, allowing only Terry O'Reilly to score.

WHA

Frank Hughes scored a club record four goals and Seppo Repo fired in the other two to power the Roadrunners over the Jets...and Danny Lawson and Ron Chipperfield scored 3½ minutes apart in the second period to give the Cowboys their victory over the West Division-leading Aeros.

Naccarato's Gets Jump

SAUGERTIES — Ted Wood scored 24 points and added 11 rebounds as Naccarato Insurance downed Kaye Sports, 94-84, in the first of a best-of-three championship playoff series for the Saugerties Athletic Association Premier Basketball League title.

Matt Zweig followed with 20 points and six assists and Jack Naccarato contributed 17 points.

Naccarato took command of the game midway through the first half and built a 14-point advantage at intermission. That lead rose to 19 at one point during the second half. Larry Panella led Kaye Sports with 24 points. Rich Koegel bucketed 17 and Joe Hellenschmidt 16. Tom Whitaker grabbed 14 rebounds to go with 15 points.

Kaye qualified for the playoff by taking the first half pennant. Naccarato won the second half race.

In final stats for the season, Rod Chando set a new league record by averaging 31.9 points per game. Ironically, Chando had only 12 points for Naccarato in the playoff opener. Koegel set a record with 271 rebounds while Chando led in assists with 142 and Naccarato topped the free throw shooters with .733 average.

JC Car Wash Unbeaten In YMCA Basketball

KINGSTON — An 88-point second half helped JC Car Wash remain undefeated as it rolled to a 137-97 win over Perry's in YMCA A League basketball.

In other games, Frog's Alley leaped past Magoo's, 87-57, and DeMico's topped Ramsay's, 97-80.

Steve Peruso canned 37 points, and Don Komosa added 33 to provide the Carwash with a potent, 1-2 punch. A.J. Murphy also had 37 for the losers, but that wasn't enough as Perry's trailed, 69-46 even before the winners cut loose in the second half.

Ted Wood led five Frogs into double figures with a 20-point effort. Magoo's, led by Bill Samuals' 14, never got close. Mike Jordan, Ron Burris and Dave Decker were too much for Ramsay's who got 28 from Art Shlightner and little else from the rest. Jordan and Burris each had 20 while Decker added 18.

The boxes:
Magoo's (57) — Latorre 9, Pillsworth 12, B. Latorre 2, Englehart 10, Hummer 2, Samuals 14, Balas, Milano 2, Knee 4, Shields, Patum 2.

Northern Teams Gain In SAA Junior Playoffs

SAUGERTIES — The opening round of the SAA Junior Basketball League's playoffs saw two North Division teams, second place Rondout National and third place Statewide Savings, advance into the semifinals.

Rondout knocked off the South's third place VFW, 82-72, while Statewide bumped second place Keeley's Korner, 69-47. Rondout will now face Thornton Insurance and Statewide will meet Sawyer Savings in the semis.

The VFW had Rondout worried, but the winners got a 17-point final period from Dave Parise to pull out the win. Parise wound up with 32 for the game while teammate John Romano added 28.

Statewide burst to an 18-5 first quarter lead, and that proved to be the ballgame. The Kornermen could come no closer than 11 after that. Chris Kraft led the victors with 16 markers.

Sectional Wrestling: Short Picks KHS; No Top Seeds for UCAL

By BRUCE GOLDBERG
Freeman staff

KINGSTON—Dean Short flatly predicts a team victory for Kingston High at this weekend's Section One AA Divisional wrestling tournament to be held at Arlington High. With two top seeds, five No. 2s and one No. 3 and the Dutchess County Scholastic League title under wraps, the coach has reasons for optimism.

"I expect to win it," said Short. "I couldn't say I expect to come in second to anybody. If we wrestle the way we're capable of, we can win it. The strong teams appear to be Ossining, Mount Vernon and White Plains."

Scholastic wrestling has entered the crucial post-season tournament stage. While KHS participates in the AA divisionals, Saugerties, with two top seeds, goes to Walter Panas High for the A divisional. The top three wrestlers in each weight class from each of four divisional tournaments participate in the Section One Open tournament March 4-5 at Westchester Community College. Sectional champions qualify for the state intersectional meet at Syracuse March 11-12.

The Section Nine tournament will be conducted over the next two Saturdays, with this week's two rounds reducing the field of 32 to eight per class at Orange Community College. On March 5th, the remaining eight meet at Suffern High. No Ulster County Athletic League champion nailed down a top seed at any weight class. The best seeds were two No. 2s.

Kingston's top seeds are returning champs Phil Brown, 18-1, at 119 pounds, and Emile Jordan, 19-2. The second-seeded Tigers are Louis Hamer at 91, Greg Manuel at 98, Herb Petersen at 105, returning champ Doug Reedy at 132 and Steve Yakaitis at 145. Craig Turner is rated No. 3 at 215. Also wrestling but not seeded will be Clay Boutan at 112, Mike Manuel at 138, Mory Katz at 155, Kirk Maisch at 167, Matt Broncato at 177 and Jeff Kaplan at 250.

Hamer is seeded second to Arlington's Dave Platt, who beat Hamer for the DCSL title last Saturday. Returning Section One champs who will be at the AA tourney include Pete Galotti of White Plains at 98, Rich Kahn of Mount Vernon at 132 and Ken Gunn of Mount Vernon at 215. The Reedy-Kahn rivalry may be renewed in the divisional finals. Reedy is 2-1-1 vs. Kahn, beating him in the divisional final last season but losing to him for the sectional championship.

Saugerties coach Hank Smith has No. 1 seeds in Tom Carr at 112 and Lars Hauck at 177, both of whom won DCSL titles this year. Hauck is the returning champ and was runner-up in Section One last year. Sal Traficante is the only entrant so far at 250 pounds and can automatically earn first-place points for the Sawyers.

Other seeded Sawyers are Andy Limeri, second at 105; Jim Dickman, third at 91; Ray Ackerman, DCSL champ, third at 132; and Tom Miller, fourth at 98. Others to wrestle include Dan Benjamin at 119, Mike Kerbert at 126, Dan Bogert at 138, Steve Landell at 145, Brian Murphy at 155, Doug Brandt at 167 and Rich Ryan at 215.

Smith sees Sleepy Hollow, Harrison and Port Chester as the top teams in the A divisional.

Top UCAL entries fared as follows in the Section Nine seeding: 91-Gary Goudreau, Pine Bush, 13th, and Walkill's Todd Coulard was eighth; 98-Bill Nolan, Liberty, 19-1-1, second; 105-Angelo Torres, Ellenville, 22-1, fourth; 112-Jim Major, Red Hook, 10-0, second; 119-Tom Major, Tappan Zee, 19-0; 105-Gene Andrews, Cornwall, 22-1-1, returning champ; 112-Eric Sadocul, Port Jervis, 15-0; 119-Bob Hirt, Tappan Zee, 18-1; 126-Kevin Gallagher, Minisink Valley, 20-1; 132-Matt Roth, Nanuet, 23-1; 138-Bob Arno, Monroe-Woodbury, 17-1; 145-Todd Sumter, Minisink Valley, 19-1; 155-Ed Banach, Port Jervis, 25-0; 167-Steve Banach, Port Jervis, 25-0; 177-Tom Habel, Tappan Zee, 21-0 by coin flip over Lou Banach, Port Jervis, 25-0; 215-Tom Losey, Goshen, 21-3.

The top seeds in Section Nine are: 91-Ted Casey, Newburgh Free Academy, 21-2; 98-Paul Margulies, Tappan Zee, 19-0; 105-Gene Andrews, Cornwall, 22-1-1, returning champ; 112-Eric Sadocul, Port Jervis, 15-0; 119-Bob Hirt, Tappan Zee, 18-1; 126-Kevin Gallagher, Minisink Valley, 20-1; 132-Matt Roth, Nanuet, 23-1; 138-Bob Arno, Monroe-Woodbury, 17-1; 145-Todd Sumter, Minisink Valley, 19-1; 155-Ed Banach, Port Jervis, 25-0; 167-Steve Banach, Port Jervis, 25-0; 177-Tom Habel, Tappan Zee, 21-0 by coin flip over Lou Banach, Port Jervis, 25-0; 215-Tom Losey, Goshen, 21-3.

Loughery Knows the Secret to Stop Denver

UNIONDALE (UPI)—Take it from Kevin Loughery — the Denver Nuggets of the defunct American Basketball Association have an excellent chance to win the 1976-77 National Basketball Association championship.

Loughery, coach of the two-time ABA champion New York Nets, was savoring a 91-88 victory over the Nuggets Wednesday night when asked about their chances to win the NBA playoffs in their first attempt.

"They are a tremendous basketball team — as good as any team in basketball," Loughery said, then added with a chuckle, "as an old ABA man, I would like to see the Nuggets win. I think they have a good shot in the playoffs."

"Mack Calvin is a definite plus for them," Loughery added, referring to the former Nugget recently reacquired by them. "He fits perfectly into their style of play. The only thing I don't understand about them is why Paul Silas doesn't fit in. I can't explain it."

The Nets' victory Wednesday night was only their first in five meetings with the Nuggets this season but Loughery feels he knows the formula for good teams to beat them. The Nets, of course, are in last place in the Atlantic Division and playing out a frustrating year during which they lost the services of their three top stars.

"The rule against them is 'no layups,'" he said. "Don't give 'em those layups and they'll never score. Of course, saying that and doing it are two different things." The Nets controlled the Nuggets inside during the first half Wednesday night and left the court with a 53-40 halftime lead. The Nets were slow falling back on defense at the outset of the third period and Calvin led the Nuggets on a 22-5 spurt and to a 29-11 third period which produced a 69-64 lead.

But the Nets rallied in the fourth period, tied the score three times and finally took the lead for good on field goals by Mike Bantom and Jan van Breda Kolff 46 seconds apart in the closing minutes. Bantom and van Breda Kolff led the Nets with 16 points each while Dan Issel had 26 and Calvin and Bobby Jones 16 each for the Nuggets.

The Washington Bullets defeated the Indiana Pacers 109-101, the Detroit Pistons shaded the Los Angeles Lakers 102-101, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Kansas City Kings 94-93, and the New Orleans Jazz scored a 106-96 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks in other games.

Bullets 109, Pacers 101. Phil Chenier scored 26 points and Kevin Grevey added 22 for the Bullets who have won 21 of their last 28 games. The Bullets ran up a 31-12 lead in the first period and the Pacers never came closer than five. John Williamson led the Pacers with 24.

Pistons 102, Lakers 101. Bob Lanier's 12-foot jump shot with nine seconds left capped a second-half rally during which Eric Money scored 22 points and enabled the Pistons to raise their home-court record to 25-5. The Lakers, leaders in the Pacific Division, suffered the sixth loss in their last eight games. In addition to his scoring, Lanier held Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to 14 points.

Sonics 94, Kings 93. The Sonics came close to squandering a 20-point lead before pulling out their victory at Kansas City when Bob Boone missed a desperation shot with three seconds left. Nick Weatherston had 21 points and Fred Brown 20 for the Sonics while Brian Taylor had 21 for Kansas City.

Jazz 106, Bucks 96. Pete Maravich scored 38 points and Bud Stallworth had 26 while rookie Paul Griffin collected 25 rebounds for the Jazz, who clinched the win by outscoring the Bucks 10-2 early in the fourth period. Junior Bridgeman and Bob Dandridge had 19 points each for Milwaukee.

Bouie Fuels Syracuse Rise

SYRACUSE (UPI)—Quietly, unnoticed by just about everybody west of Manley Field House, Syracuse has built one of the best records in the nation and slowly risen in the national rankings. One of the biggest reasons stands 6-foot-11. His name is Roosevelt Bouie and he is a freshman.

Niagara coach Dan Raskin got his first look at Syracuse and Bouie Wednesday night as No. 13 Syracuse beat Niagara 106-82. He was doubly impressed.

"He was the dominating player of the game," the first-year coach said. "Bouie may be the best player ever to come out of Syracuse, even though he's only a freshman now."

Bouie scored 16 points, grabbed seven rebounds and blocked four shots as the Orangemen won their 22nd victory against three defeats.

Niagara scored the first two points, but Syracuse got the next 17, including nine by forward Dale Shackelford, to put the game out of reach early.

"We wanted to get our running game going," Syracuse coach Jim Boeheim said. "We feel the running game is the key to our success."

Syracuse held a 50-35 halftime lead and substituted freely in the second half.

"Syracuse could play anybody in the East at home and win," Raskin said. "They have an excellent team. They go seven men deep, and then some."

Guard Jimmy Williams led Syracuse with 18 points and Shackelford added 14. Niagara forward Vern Allen topped all scorers with 23.

In the only other game involving a top 20 team, No. 8 North Carolina sank 62 per cent of its shots from the field and routed North Carolina State 90-73.

"I don't have an explanation for anything," Sloan said. "It was about the worst defeat we've had since I've been at State. We were completely dominated and embarrassed."

Even North Carolina coach Dean Smith didn't quite believe it.

Phil Ford scored 24 points while Walter Davis and Mike O'Koren added 14 each as North Carolina improved its record to 20-4.

Benson Out for Year

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Kent Benson, a towering redhead who was an All-American as a junior, has played his last basketball game as a collegian.

The 6-foot-11 pivot ace of last year's unbeaten and No. 1-ranked national champion Indiana Hoosiers aggravated a chronic back ailment last Sunday when he crashed to the floor in the waning seconds of a game at Purdue.

Just 46 seconds were left when Benson and Purdue's Joe Barry Carroll battled for a rebound. Benson landed on his back, lay motionless for about a minute, then was helped off the floor by coach Bobby Knight and an assistant.

There was speculation right then that Benson might be through for the season, but this was not confirmed by Knight until Wednesday.

"We wouldn't endanger his future in basketball," Knight said simply.

Thus, for the first time in four years, Benson will be missing from the lineup tonight when the Hoosiers entertain Big Ten rival Wisconsin.

Benson had been resting at Knight's home following the injury. By mid-week, however, he was back at his New Castle, Ind., home.

A spokesman said orthopedic specialists want him to remain in bed for two weeks. "It's a massive bruising and swelling of his lower back," the spokesman said.

The back ailment has plagued Benson through much of his prolific career — in both high school and college. Although he will miss Indiana's last four games, he finished as the Hoosiers' No. 2 all-time scorer with 1,740 points. Don Schlundt's record, set in the 1950s, is 2,192 points.

Westchester Is Third In Final NJCAA Poll

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Unbeaten College of Southern Idaho finished first Wednesday in the final 1976-77 basketball ratings of the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Southern Idaho, 26-0, led the poll all season long. Casper (Wyo.) College finished second, followed by Westchester (N.Y.), Western Texas College and Independence (Kan.).

Others in the top 20: 6, Waukesha County (Wis.); 7, East Central (Mo.); 8, Rhode Island; 9, Jamestown (N.Y.); 10, Lawson State (Ala.); 11, Ferrum (Va.); 12, tie, Barton County (Kan.), Henderson County (Tex.), Palmer (Iowa); 15, tie, Baltimore (Md.), Pensacola (Fla.), Oakland (Mich.); 18, tie, Vincennes (Ind.), Southeastern (Iowa); 20, DuPage (Ill.).

Battle Is for Second In American Division

BOICEVILLE — Two issues were to be decided as a result of Wednesday's Ulster County Athletic League girls basketball. One, would Red Hook High remain undefeated in the American Division, and two, who would take charge of second place?

Yes, Red Hook did remain undefeated with a victory over New Paltz, 79-25, but second place is still up for grabs, as Onteora snuck by Wallkill, 50-49 to tie the teams at seven wins apiece. The Indians, however, are playing a half game back, having lost one more game.

In other games around the circuit, Coleman pushed by Highland 55-40, Ellenville crushed Marlboro 48-23, and Pine Bush overpowered Rondout Valley, 51-17.

With nine seconds remaining in its game, Onteora was up by two points when Leah Weselmann converted two free throws to give her team a four point margin. Wallkill brought the ball down court and Joy Coulard went up for the shot, made it count, but was fouled in the process at the buzzer. One shot was awarded after the time had expired, bringing Wallkill to within one but there was nothing more to be done.

The Indians had taken a 10 point lead at the half, 23-13, but watched it fade slowly as Wallkill kept inching up for the anti-climatic finish.

Onteora coach Carol Okoren was pleased with the play of her team especially because the bench did an outstanding job. "The reserves came through for us," she said. "They were poised, they didn't outscore Wallkill, but they held their own."

Okoren was also happy with the rebounding ability shown by Joanne Lapo and Joanne Tetta, who each had 12. "We were not strong on the boards before this," she commented. "But they really came through."

The Indians exhibited a well-balanced scoring offense, with Tami Beahm collecting 10 points, the high scorer. Lapo had nine points, while Gail Duffy chipped in with eight. Game honors went to Wallkill's Cindy Birdsall, who netted 16, followed by teammate Mary Connors with 15.

Red Hook trounced New Paltz with its tough defense and explosive offense. The Raiders, running the fast break, ran up a 29-0 first quarter score as Kelly Mosher, Barbara Skiba and Denise Sevigny all scored seven points.

By the half it was 43-8 and too late for New Paltz to do anything. Mosher scored the game high of 19 points, followed by Pat Kowalaki with 18 and Skiba with 13. Debbie Drahos netted 11 for New Paltz.

Coleman strengthened its grip on the top seat in the National Division, but didn't get away without a fight. Leading 24-6 at one point in the second quarter, Highland came back to make 29-20 at the half.

"They broke the press and got some easy shots," said Coleman coach Deb Getty. "They were getting two and three chances and they were shooting well."

Highland crept to within six points in the third quarter, but the Statesmen tightened their defense and squeezed it out. "We got organized and started taking good shots," said Getty whose team was 25 for 70. "We were taking more shots too," she noted, as Highland shot 15-43.

Janet's Knott's 15 points and 23 rebounds led all Coleman players, while Dawn Lipinski had 21 for Highland.

Pine Bush took advantage of an effective press and forced Rondout Valley to turn over the ball and the game. Leading 32-7 at the half, the Bushmen never really had a contest as they controlled the boards and the hoop. Lyl Muthig dumped 23 points through the net and swept the boards as Rondout Valley's Jennifer Embree collected six points.

Ellenville breezed by Marlboro on a good defensive effort which allowed the offense the opportunity to place three scorers in double figures. Cynthia Thompson with 18, Leah Brodhead with 12 and Cheryl Eiksta, who pumped 11, were the leaders. Lucinda Peterson had six points for Marlboro, which found it difficult to score against a selfish Ellenville team.

"We had trouble with turnovers in the past," said Ellenville coach Marge Collins, "but we played good defense today."

Finley to Attend Bowie's Hearing

CHICAGO (UPI) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley says he will attend a meeting called by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn over Finley's sale of relief pitcher Paul Lindblad to the Texas Rangers because he's uncertain what Kuhn might do next.

Kuhn scheduled the meeting for March 2 in Dallas. Finley said Wednesday Texas owner Brad Corbett, who bought Lindblad for $400,000, had told him in a telephone conversation he had already signed Lindblad to a Rangers contract and had no plans to attend.

"Mr. Corbett has stated he signed Lindblad to a contract on Saturday and he stated he is not going to any goddamned meeting," Finley said.

"My attorney and I have decided tonight (Wednesday) that we will attend the meeting, only because there's no telling what this man (Kuhn) might attempt to do," Finley said. "At times, he doesn't act very rational. He is out of his mind."

In June 1976, Kuhn voided Finley's sales of pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees and pitcher Rolie Fingers and outfielder Joe Rudi to the Boston Red Sox for a total of $3.5 million. Kuhn said it was in the best interest of baseball. Finley then filed a $3.5 million lawsuit against Kuhn.

Last week, Kuhn questioned the Lindblad sale.

Finley said, "Kuhn has already caused the near destruction of the Oakland club by irresponsibly interfering with the sales of Rudi, Fingers and of Blue."

"Kuhn is acting maliciously on a personal vendetta against me for attempting to prevent his re-election as commissioner of baseball, and in doing so (he) has a total disregard for the Oakland fans, the Oakland team and all of baseball."

"It is no coincidence that the only deals in which Kuhn interferes are those made by Charlie Finley, even though there have been many similar

Yanks Close Wallets on Batboys

NEW YORK (UPI) — When New York Yankee players voted themselves a World Series share of $19,935.48 apiece last season, they neglected to cut in their batboys for as much as a penny.

"I was surprised," said one of the batboys, 18-year-old Walter Gershoff of Douglaston, Wednesday. "They all get paid well. They have the highest paid roster. The money they would have given us is like meal money for them."

"We deserved it. We worked hard all season."

The World Champion Cincinnati Reds, on the other hand, voted quarter shares of $6,591 to two batboys and $200 each to visiting batboys.

Gershoff, tired of turning his head away in embarrassment when friends asked him how much he had been awarded, decided to make his story known to the news media after getting no satisfaction from the Yankees.

"I called the Yankees," he said. "They didn't care. I called the commissioner's office and they put me through to accounting. The woman there had a list of everyone who received shares. We weren't on it."

A few weeks ago, Gershoff and another batboy, Alan Vines, went to a high school clinic because they knew pitcher Sparky Lyle would be there.

"He explained to us that when they had their meeting, they were voting on the batboys' share but (manager) Billy Martin said 'hold it up,' and they never voted on it."

Each batboy earned a flat rate of $14 a day, based on the New York State minimum wage of $2.30 an hour for six hours, although Gershoff says, "It was more like nine or 10 hours we worked."

Despite what has happened, Gershoff says he would like to return to his batboy job except that the Yankees haven't shown any interest.

"Everybody got along well," he said. "It was the best experience of my life. I'd give anything to go back. It's like being out there on the field you're one of the stars, in the limelight. Fans ask you for your autograph."

And despite it all, Gershoff remains a Yankee fan, explaining, "I've been a Yankee fan all my life. I'm not a fan of each ballplayer, just of the team."

Oneonta Floats Past NPS

NEW PALTZ — There was one positive aspect to the fifth loss suffered by the New Paltz State swimming team Wednesday, and that was the extra time spent in the water by the Hawks three hopes to place well in the upcoming State University of New York Athletic Conference championships at Cortland. Otherwise, the meet was a total disaster, as Oneonta deflated the New Paltz life support systems and let it sink to a 79-30 loss.

"I think it still points out the need for recruiting," said New Paltz coach Dave Loeffler. "The mark of a good team is recruiting and if we can spend two years at it, we'll have much better results."

The Hawks strength appears to lie in the freestyle events with Jim Romeika, Dieter Freer and Tim Walsh. The best performance for the team came from Romeika who outswam the field in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 0:24.1. Romeika also registered a third in the 100 yard freestyle, while Tim Walsh swam second in the 1000 yard race and third in the 500 yard event. Dieter Freer touched home second in both the 200 yard freestyle and the 200 yard backstroke, while Scott Smith posted two seconds in the 200 yard individual medley and the 200 yard butterfly.

The team of Freer, Romeika, Greenfield and Rod Martin gave the Hawks a victory in the 400 free relay, in 3:54.0.

New Paltz will take its 1-5 record to the SUNYAC championships on March 3 and Loeffler is hopeful that Romeika, Walsh and Freer will produce.

New Paltz Tops RVC Skiers

WOODRIDGE — Capturing the top two spots in the boys race and winning the girls race for forfeit Wednesday, the New Paltz High School ski team swept Rondout Valley in its final meet.

By the score of 160.18 to 167.17, the Huguenot boys skied onto the 500 plateau at 6-6 for the second time in two years, while the girls finished second to Onteora with a record of 9-3.

Lou Mosconi and Peter Brain led the field over the line with times of 30.01 and 30.34 respectively, ahead of Rondout's best finisher, Peter Jansen. The Ganders' Doug Davenport pulled up behind Jansen in fourth spot, before New Paltz sent Jim Hornbeck and Eric Hick to the finish.

The Ganders, entering only one competitor in the girls race, surrendered a forfeit to the New Paltz girls. Barbara Buck was clocked at 33.89 for the Huguenots, with Debbie Buck right behind at 34.27.

Cruelty At the Kennel

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — A suburban kennel owner pleaded innocent Wednesday to two misdemeanor charges of cruelty to animals.

Ronald Barlow was charged under the state's Agriculture and Marketing Law after authorities, acting with a warrant, visited his establishment, a converted house, and found 100 cats and 75 dogs.

Dr. Norman Goldstein, a veterinarian, said that during the weekend he put 40 of the animals to sleep. Some had distemper and others had respiratory diseases. Goldstein also said the cats were dehydrated because they could not reach any water and their cages were undersized. The SPCA has been caring for the surviving animals.

Barlow contended he was buying ailing animals, nursing them back to health and selling them to laboratories. He also maintained that a federal inspector visited his place recently and found no major problems.

Barlow entered his not guilty plea before Pompey Town Justice Dwight Huffman, who released him in $1,000 bail for a reappearance next Monday.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED INTRODUCTION OF TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES FOR DIAL PBX SERIES 600 TYPES 50, 52 and 54 SERVICE

Notice is hereby given that the Telephone Company has submitted to the Public Service Commission, with a proposed effective date of March 25, 1977, tariff amendments providing for the introduction of Dial PBX Series 600 Types 50, 52 and 54 Service.

DESCRIPTION OF SERVICE
 The Dial PBX Series 600 Types 50, 52 and 54 Service is provided by the Dimension® 2000 PBX. The Dimension PBX is an electronic system using stored program control, a time division switching network and switched loop consoles. The system has a maximum capacity of 2000 lines and 350 trunks with up to 1000 optional Dimension Custom Telephone Service (DCTS) stations and any combination of Rotary dial or TOUCH-TONE for the remaining stations or station lines. The capacity of lines, trunks and DCTS stations depends on the subscriber's traffic requirements. The inherent flexibility of the system provides for comprehensive features to meet the needs of particular businesses and industries.

RATE STRUCTURE
 The service is offered under 3 rate plans designated Types 50, 52 and 54. Under Types 50 and 52 Service, the monthly rates for the service consist of two parts, "A" and "B". The subscriber has the option of selecting "A" rate payment periods of 36, 60, 84, 120 or 144 months. The selected "A" rates are guaranteed against Company-initiated change. The "B" part of the monthly rates apply subject to change, from the date of installation. The service is designated Type 50 when the customer elects to pay an installation charge and Type 52 when the customer pays no installation charge. The monthly rates for Type 52 service are higher than the monthly rates for Type 50 service. As an option to paying the "A" rates, the subscriber may elect to make a one-time payment. Type 54 service is offered on the basis of standard monthly rates and installation charges, which are subject to change; a minimum charge of one month's rental plus the installation charge is applicable.

CASE 27120—Joint petition of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation and Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc. for the approval of the transfer of interests in the electric generating station at Roseton, New York.

CASE 80005—ROCHESTER GAS AND ELECTRIC CORPORATION—STERLING POWER PROJECT NUCLEAR UNIT NO. 1.
Application of Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation on behalf of Orange and Rockland Utilities, Inc., Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation and itself for a certificate of environmental compatibility and public need to construct a 1,150 MW standardized nuclear power plant in the Town of Sterling, Cayuga County, New York.

February 8, 1977
NOTICE is hereby given that in accordance with Order Establishing Proceeding to Investigate the Transfer of Interests in the Roseton Generating Station and Deciding Related Motions, issued on January 25, 1977, public hearings will be held in the proceedings in Case 27013 and Case 27120 before Administrative Law Judge Joseph J. Gottlieb, at the offices of the Public Service Commission, Agency Building No. 3, Empire State Plaza, Albany, New York, on Tuesday, March 8, 1977 at 10:00 a.m., and following days, as necessary.

CASES 27013, 27120 and 80005
The joint petitioners in the proceeding in Case 27120 seek approval, pursuant to Section 70 of the Public Service Law, of agreements, dated November 23, 1976, between Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation (Central Hudson) and Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc., (Consolidated Edison) canceling (1) contracts under which Central Hudson is to purchase from Consolidated Edison an additional 10% ownership interest (120MW) in the electric generating station at Roseton, effective December 31, 1978, and a 5% interest (60 MW), effective December 31, 1982, and (2) an option held by Central Hudson to purchase from Consolidated Edison an additional 5% interest (60 MW) in said generating plant in 1982. The said agreement would also amend contracts under which Central Hudson is to purchase from Consolidated Edison winter generating capability until the winter of 1980-81, in varying amounts as high as 400 MW in the winter of 1978-79. Under the new agreements, Central Hudson would purchase from Consolidated Edison winter capability through the winter of 1980-81 equal to its entire winter capability deficiencies.

The hearings in the proceeding in Case 27013 were closed on August 4, 1976, and a recommended decision issued by Administrative Law Judge Joseph J. Gottlieb on October 26, 1976. By the said order, issued January 25, 1977, the Commission reopens these hearings for the limited purpose of determining whether the long-run load growth projections for Central Hudson that were relied upon previously remain valid, and if not, how the changes will affect the desirability of its participation in the Nine Mile Point No. 2 plant. For this limited purpose, the two proceedings in Case 27013 and Case 27120 are merged, and one set of hearings, as scheduled above, are being held.

NOTICE is hereby also given that in the said order, issued January 25, 1977, the Commission refers to a motion in the proceeding in Case 80005, seeking to reopen hearings based on the underlying question of whether Central Hudson's long-run load growth projections have been significantly altered. Inasmuch as the Commission has found that this question will be developed fully in Case 27120, it has ordered that all parties in Case 80005 receive a copy of its order as well as all notices, rulings and orders issued in Case 27120, and that the record compiled in the proceeding in Case 27120 be incorporated into the record of Case 80005 by reference. Associate Examiner William J. Dickerson of the Department of Environmental Conservation will sit jointly with Presiding Examiner Joseph J. Gottlieb at the scheduled hearings in connection with those matters which relate to Case 80005. These hearings may be the only opportunity for the parties in said case to be heard on these issues.

CASE 27013, 27120 and 80005
Testimony in accordance with the said Commission order for presentation by the petitioning utilities at the scheduled hearings shall be prefiled not later than February 18, 1977. Prefiled testimony shall be prepared in accordance with the requirements of Section 71.5 (b) of the Rules of Procedure and shall have related exhibits attached. Spaces shall be left in the prepared testimony for insertion of exhibit numbers which will be assigned at the hearing. Prefiling shall be accomplished by mailing or personally delivering copies of the prepared testimony and related exhibits to each hearing officer, and to each party requesting a copy, and by filing 12 copies with the Secretary of the Commission. All parties who desire to participate in cross-examination of this testimony shall be ready to proceed at the scheduled hearing.

Noah's plan still holds water. Driving to a satellite parking lot and taking mass transit the rest of the way to work makes sense. But instead of driving alone to catch your bus, take a tip from Noah. Go two by two. That way, you'll save gas and money on the whole trip. Not just part of it.

Share the ride to the bus.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25

Your birthday today: Diversification of activities starts you on the road to broad personal advancement. Changes of status vary according to your goals, self-improvement projects. Relationships are complex, pose delicate choices, difficulty making feelings clear where it counts. Today's natives are resourceful, prefer to work from their own original ideas. Those born this year are innately talented in human relations, how people communicate, do well in psychology, education.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Stress subsides. Let others handle matters, but keep track of what happens. Enjoy entertainment, have a go at competition if there's one you can enter.

Taurus (April 20-May 20):

Responsibility lightens or is taken out of your hands. Reconcile family conflicts. It's your turn to give ground on issues for the sake of peaceful relationships.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Maintain momentum, fulfill expected quotas. Effects of bad habits are visible enough to encourage corrections. Evening is for fun, games, no serious talk.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Express yourself clearly, stick to the subject. A report on the situation as you see it is misinterpreted as a bid for action. Go easy on the commentary!

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Get a professional checkup if you've any doubts or haven't sought advice for awhile. Your affairs are subject of curiosity. Use intuition in dealing with it.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Tie up loose ends. Coming events take planning in terms of years ahead, but make no major financial commitment yet. Home life is happier, time to reflect.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A personal touch makes the difference. Friends add sufficient diversity of viewpoint, highlight your position. Making up for delays justifies overtime.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Because today runs so much smoother than the last two doesn't mean you plunge into new schemes. Make an effort to get back to those you drifted away from.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Pull together whatever is yours, anything you can salvage from recent incidents of crisis. Progress comes in hobbies, with tidying up or maintenance.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Let up a little on promotion. Plan seasonal changes. Make the rounds of telephone contacts. Catch up on news among friends scattered in distant places.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Do a bit of politicking to be sure you understand the hopes and fears of people you must mingle with on a regular basis. Tonight's romance is promising.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Laziness is a natural reaction to what has been going on, but you can't afford to give in. Use imagination. If information isn't clear, line up more.

TEEN FORUM

By JEAN ADAMS, Ph.D.

FIRST? (Q.) I'm writing to find out who should make the first move.

I want to tell this guy Chris that I like him. I hinted around to my mother about my problem. I asked her, "Who do you think should be the first one to tell the person, especially if the guy's shy?"

She said, "The guy, of course. If he likes you enough, he'll usually tell you first."

But, with women's lib being a big thing, I'm not sure which way it should be. Please help. — Waiting in Rhode Island.

(A.) You're right. Women are being more assertive, and most people today accept this new assertiveness, especially when the male in question is a shy guy.

If Chris hasn't brought his feelings out into the open by now but is still friendly with you, I believe that it is time for you to let him know how you feel.

You ARE 17, and no baby. If he doesn't like you enough, you won't die.

FIVE YEARS: (Q.) I went with Jennifer when we were in the fourth grade. Then I broke up with her. Five years later, I saw her again. Now I hate myself for leaving her.

Since I did, I haven't gone with or even looked at another girl. Jenny told me she hadn't forgotten about me in all that time, but she won't go out with me unless it's as a friend and not an actual date.

What can I do to make a friendship into something more? — Lonely in Indiana.

(A.) Accept Jennifer as a friend, and take her out. Friendship often grows with togetherness. Your renewed friendship with her may grow into something closer.

But even if it doesn't, you will still have more than you have now, which is nothing. You should not hold anything she did in the fourth grade against her now, and she should have the same toward you.

(Have a problem? Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas, 77001. Every letter is read, but because of the great number received, Dr. Adams cannot send personal replies.)

DESPERATE PLAY DEVELOPS TRICKS

by Alfred Sheinwold

Since most bridge players lead sheltered lives, they don't know what it is to be desperate. Yet there are times when only a desperate play will develop the right number of tricks.

Opening lead — ♦ 9

East takes the ace of diamonds and sees that the situation is desperate. Dummy's clubs are solid. The opening lead indicates that the defenders can take only one diamond trick. The bidding and the dummy indicate that the defenders have only one trump trick.

The hand can be defeated only if West has the ace of spades. East hopes to take two spade tricks at once or to make declarer ruff enough spades to lose control of the trumps.

It is not enough for East to return a spade: he must lead the king of spades. This desperate play is safe if West has the ace of spades.

MAKES SOUTH RUFF
When the king of spades wins, East continues spades to make South ruff. When East gets in with the ace of trumps he makes South ruff another spade. Now East has one trump more than declarer and gets the setting trick with a low trump.

East would not defeat the contract by leading a low spade at the second trick. West takes the ace and returns a spade, whereupon declarer ruffs East's king. Dummy's queen of spades is good, so that East cannot make South ruff again.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with 2 NT (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes. You hold: ♦ K964 ♥ A763 ♦ A54 ♠ 62. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards. If partner bids three spades or three hearts, you will leap to six of his suit. If partner bids three diamonds, denying a major suit, you will leap to 6 NT.

ON TRACK

Jackie Onassis stands beside huge photo of Grand Central Station in New York City during news conference by the "Committee to Save Grand Central Station," to plead that the terminal be spared demolition. The organization is in a complicated court fight with the Penn Central Railroad, which owns the terminal, and wants to tear it down and build an office tower. The case is expected to go before the New York Court of Appeals this spring.

Icewalkers Safe After Erie Trek

SIMCOE, Ont. (UPI) — Ronald Perillo rubbed a sore knee in the warmth of the Royal Simcoe Lodge. It was his only souvenir of a three-day walk across frozen Lake Erie from Erie, Pa., to the Canadian shore with his companion, William Greulich. They estimated that they walked 40 miles "not counting the zigzags."

"The walking on that hard ice was the hardest part," Perillo said. "I don't know why my knee is hurting, but I stumbled a few times and I can hardly climb stairs now. I'll have it looked at when I get back home."

He said the trip was "well worth it."

The two Erie men walked into this small Ontario city Wednesday somewhat foot-sore, cold, and unaware they were the objects of a U.S. Coast Guard search.

"Since we left the public dock in Erie at 9 a.m. Sunday we haven't known what was happening back there,"

Perillo said. "If there has been a search for us we didn't know about it."

Perillo and Greulich both said they felt they were in no danger as they crossed the frozen lake itself because the ice was at least two feet thick. They said the walk across Long Point Bay after they had reached the Canadian side was "quite frightening."

Perillo said that "was the really dangerous part. There were a lot of pressure ridges and open water to get around."

Perillo said it took the pair just one day to cross Lake Erie from the United States to the Canadian side, but the trip across Long Point Bay took two days.

Those Yonkers' Robbers Are Loaded, But...

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI) — Robbers who hid in a bank basement and got away with at least $1.3 million in receipts from the Yonkers Raceway harness track may have a hard time spending much of it without arousing suspicion. FBI Agent Robert Besley, who heads the bureau's nearby New Rochelle office, said Wednesday a "substantial" portion of the loot was in non-negotiable checks made out to Yonkers Raceway.

That still leaves several hundred thousand dollars in loose cash for the robbers who hid in the basement of the Hudson Valley National Bank and then surprised early arriving bank employees.

Bank officials have refused to say how much money was taken in the Tuesday morning holdup, but it was learned Wednesday that a Wells Fargo manifest showed the $1.3 million total.

The Yonkers money, turned over to a bank vice president at midnight Monday, included the track's take from Friday and Saturday night racing programs and a Washington's Birthday session.

The FBI said the robbers apparently hid in the basement of a five-story office building housing the bank and handcuffed two employees who reported to work ahead of normal office hours to count the raceway money and clean up a meeting room used for an American Cancer Society meeting Monday night.

Authorities said the bandits entered the basement either through a door that was left open during the meeting or via a 14-by-18 inch hole in the wall of a basement storeroom that a maintenance man found behind a vending machine three weeks ago.

The bandits tripped an alarm system on their way out of the bank, but police did not arrive in time to catch them.

Embarrassed bank officials said Wednesday that none of Hudson Valley's videotape cameras was in operation when the robbery occurred.

The bank's armed guards had been cut from the payroll a year ago.

Sam Brown Returning Without Protest Signs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sam Brown, antiwar activist and leader of Eugene McCarthy's ill-fated 1968 Children's Crusade, is 33 now and about to become part of the government he once led protests against.

He said in an interview Wednesday his life has "changed in a lot of ways since then."

Brown goes before the Senate Human Resources Committee today for confirmation hearings on his nomination to head ACTION, a coalition of government volunteer programs including Vista and the Peace Corps.

Colorado's elected state treasurer since 1974, Brown said he is waiting until he wins Senate confirmation before resigning that job. He is expected to win quick approval, with no opposition voiced so far.

Brown organized the 1969 Vietnam War Moratorium march, and is not new to Washington. This time he returns without protest signs and without the bitterness against government that marked the war era.

His return is not without some heavy thoughts of where he has been and where he is going, however. Many are related to joining the government that only a few years ago he attacked.

"I think about it often," Brown told UPI. "Seven years ago I left Washington and went to Colorado. My life has changed in a lot of ways since then."

Brown has now concluded that "the only way to make certain kinds of change is to make it within the government," he said.

"Many of us were outside then not because we chose that but because that was the only channel open to us. When government isn't what you want it to be, you have a chance to change it. Now government is moving in the directions I want it to be, so I can be in it."

He said it is possible he would "have the courage of my convictions" and go outside again if the government moved back in a direction not to his liking. "The question is not inside or outside, but whether you take your responsibilities seriously," he said.

Brown insisted he has not "sold out" to the establishment.
